TWO MEN FROM THE MOUNTAINS.

JAILS ARE OVERFLOWING WITH PRISONERS.

Bulgarians are Getting a Rough Deal at the Hands of the Turks.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 16.—The Turkish authorities are disquieted at the recent appearance of bands of Armenian revolutionaries, coming from Russia, in the districts of Bayazid and Sasun, Armenia, and are adopting rigorous measures to guard the frontier.

The Armenians cross in small parties in the neighborhood of Bayazid and thence make their way to the Sasun mountains, where they are safe from pursuit.

It is alleged here that the Russian authorities of Karls, Asiatic Russia, are aware of the movements of the Armenians, but they do not intend to interfere.

It is believed that the appearance of these bands indicates a revival of activity on the part of old Armenian committees, who are understood to be anxious to take advantage of the complications arising from the Macedonian situation, in which case the claims of the Armenians will be revived and the same advantage gained from the Macedonian from European intervention will be demanded for Armenia.

The Turkish government has notified the Bulgarian Exarch that Gerassimos, Bishop of Strumitsa, Macedonia, has been removed and has invited the Exarch to appoint his successor.

The Exarch, however, refuses to recognize the authority of the Turkish government to remove the bishop and has advised Gerassimos, who is practically a prisoner in his own house, to remain there.

It is alleged that Bishop Gerassimos is a supporter of the Macedonian movement, but it is also stated that the charges are brought by the jealous clergy. The prisons of Macedonia are overflowing with Bulgarians, the Turkish authorities hoping to thereby paralyze the action of the Macedonian committees.

SAN FRANCISCO SINGER DIES OF PNEUMONIA AT HER HOME IN PARIS.

She Was a Famous Artist and Had a Host of Admirers in Europe and America—
Was Ill Only a Few Days.

PARIS, May 16.—Sybil Sanderson, the well-known American opera singer, died suddenly to-day of pneumonia, resulting from an attack of grip.

The announcement of the death of the famous artist caused a profound shock in the American colony here, where she was well known throughout musical and theatrical circles.

She returned to Paris from Nice six weeks ago, suffering from a slight attack of the grip. Her condition was not regarded as serious, but she gradually grew worse and her sickness finally developed into pneumonia.

The doctors continued to hold out hopes of her recovery, but the singer sank and finally succumbed this morning.

Miss Sanderson's mother, the widow of Judge Sanderson of California, with whom she lived in apartments at No. 1 Avenue Du Bois de Boulogne, and other relatives and friends were present at the time of her death, including her sisters, Edith and Marion, and Mary Garden of Chicago, the soprano of the Opera Comique.

Miss Sanderson, according to report, was to have been married this summer to Count Paul Tolstoi, a cousin of the Russian novelist.

The funeral of Miss Sanderson will take place here Monday.

Miss Garden said Miss Sanderson, who had been unconscious since Thursday evening and had suffered great pain, regained her senses before death came, although she passed away quietly in her sleep.

Miss Sanderson had lived here so long that Parisians had become to consider her as one of them.

She came here when a young girl from Sacramento, California.

She preferred to make her debut outside of Paris and went to The Hague, where she achieved such a signal success that she returned to Paris and appeared in "Esclarmonde" written especially for her by Massenet. Miss Sanderson's first appearance was one of the notable sensations of the French operatic stage.

Afterwards she created Thais and continued to be a favorite with the Parisians, singing the roles of La Dame, Manon and Juliet during her active stage career.

Miss Sanderson also actively took part in the social events of the American colony and was frequently seen at the receptions held at the United States embassy.

Many Americans and leaders of the theatrical world called at the Sanderson house during the afternoon when the news of Miss Sanderson's death became known and inscribed their names on the register.

Director Vizentini, of the Opera Comique, where Miss Sanderson achieved her most notable success, paid her a tribute as one of the foremost figures the French lyric stage has seen during the present season.

The funeral will be held at the church of St. Honore D'Eylau.

Since her marriage in 1897 to Antonio Terry, the Cuban millionaire, who died in 1899, Miss Sanderson had withdrawn from active participation in opera.

Until her husband's death she spent most of her time at his handsome chateau at Chenonceaux and she has since lived with her mother in spacious apartments here where she received only a few intimate friends.

But Miss Sanderson constantly retained her love of music and the stage

SHOT AND KILLED C. E. MORAN.

AWFUL ACT AT SAN BERNARDINO OF BARTON, VAUDEVILLE PERFORMER.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 16.—Gilbert E. Moran, 21 years of age, and an employee of the Santa Fe Railway at Colton, was shot on the street this morning by Frank Barton, a vaudeville performer from San Francisco.

Moran died 30 minutes after the shooting took place and Barton was immediately placed in jail charged with murder.

The shooting was caused apparently by the accidental jostling of Barton by Moran in the crowd along the midway of the street fair now in progress here.

Barton became very angry and instantly pulled out a revolver with which he commenced firing. Barton was employed in one of the side shows on the midway.

RUSSIA DENIES MASSACRE OF JEWS IN BESSARABIA

State Department Cannot Question Answer by Czar's Government Regarding Horror.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Marked copies of Jewish newspapers and personal representatives are pouring in on the State Department, all relating to the reported killing and maltreatment of Jews in Bessarabia.

Some of these, at least, show misunderstanding of the situation on the part of the State Department in dealing with the situation.

Ambassador McCormick has been criticized for denying that any massacre occurred. It is said at the Department that the ambassador made no statement of his own on the subject. He simply transmitted textually the reply made by the Russian Government to a request made by the United States that relief funds be admitted for distribution among the sufferers.

The Russian government's reply, published at the time, was that there was no such suffering as had been reported, and no occasion for relief.

McCormick could not question the veracity of his official informant and he sent the denial along without comment, distinctly placing it upon the Russian government.

The State Department feels that it can do no more than it has done in the cause of the oppressed Jews. It has not been officially said that a single one of them is an American citizen, so it has no warrant for interference. There is no parallel in this case with the two Rurals and those in Russia. In the first case, it is said at the department, that the United States had ground for interfering.

No details of the fighting have been received beyond a brief telegram reporting the deaths. It is said that six of the enemy were killed. It is thought that the natives approached Captain Overton's command, pretending friendship and then attacked the Americans.

About 300 insurgents, armed with bolos, resisted the landing of forces of scouts at Sustatian, Mindanao, Tuesday. They charged the scouts and wounded two of them. It required an hour to disperse the insurgents. Twelve of the latter were killed and many wounded.

ABOUT BEN WHEELER.

(With apologies to Leigh Hunt.)
Abou Ben Wheeler (may his tribe decrease!)
Awoke one night from a dream of ease,
And saw, within the moonlight in his room,
Making it rich and like a lily in bloom,
An angel writing in a book of gold.
Exceeding ease had made Ben Wheeler bold,
And to the presence in the room he said,
"What writest thou?" The vision raised his head,
And with a look made of all sweet accord,
Answered, "The names of those who love the Lord."
"And is mine one?" said Abou. "Nay, not so,"
Replied the angel. "Abou spoke more low,
But cheerily still, and said, "I pray thee, then,
Write me as one that loves his own good Ben."
The angel wrote and vanished. The next night
It came again with great awakening light
And showed the names whom to be self had blessed,
And lo! Ben Wheeler's name led all the rest.

CHILD STRANGLED EATING GREEN PEAS.

As a result of eating green peas from a pod, Domenico Massoni, the two-year-old son of P. A. Massoni, a fruit and produce dealer, whose place of business is at 1558 Broadway, died shortly after 11 o'clock this morning in his father's store, after suffering for a half an hour in the greatest agony. One of the green peas which the child was eating became lodged in his windpipe and death was caused by strangulation.

The Massoni family live in the rear of the store. The child had been playing about the premises all morning and about 11 o'clock took several pods of peas out of a sack in the store and commenced eating them. In a moment he commenced choking and cry for his mother. Mrs. Massoni hurried from the rear of the store and seated the child on the back, hoping to relieve it, but it still continued to gag and choke, and a custodian was dispatched for Dr. Littnerman. But when the physician arrived, the child had died in the arms of Miss Etta Fenton, a neighbor, living at 1453 Broadway. Mrs. Enrico Marko of 1452 Broadway was also present when the child died. The coroner has taken charge of the remains and will hold an inquest Monday.

MAY STRIKE ON TRANSIT LINES.

Laborers Will Hold Big Demonstration on the Streets This Evening
—Call it a Lockout.

A mass meeting was held last evening at Pythian Hall on Twelfth street, which was attended by fully five hundred union men, all of whom are members of the Laborers' Protective Union No. 10,772, which is one of the strongest in the labor ranks. The meeting was held on the special call of President John J. Burke, and the purpose was to discuss the situation into which the Oakland Transit Company has forced the large part of them. The men are determined to stand by their rights, and it looks very much as if a strike may yet be ordered.

A complaint was made to the union by the men about a month ago to the effect that they are not able to properly provide for their families, meet the necessities of life on the wages that they were getting. At that time they were receiving $2 per day and were not allowed free transportation to and from work, which meant a cent a day off their wages.

The union took action on the complaint and served the transit company with a notice that the track employees must receive $2.50 per day for their work on and after June 7.

The Transit Company sent a communication to President Burke a few days ago which shows a tendency on the part of the company to ignore the men and to fight the issue. The communication stated that the management had considered the matter and had decided to dismiss the complaining workers so that they might have time to "think it over."

The letter has had the effect of rousing the ire of the labor leaders and will denounce the episode as insolent.

The outcome was the ordering of the meeting last night which packed the large hall to the doors with enthusiastic union men.

After discussing the matter thoroughly from all sides it was decided to vote on the schedule or wages to go into effect on May 18th instead of June 7th as originally ordered. This action was the only alternative as they had been practically locked out.

The Alameda County Federated Trades Council is in sympathy with the action of the union and will give it every support possible. If the com-

CARTOONIST ANGRY

PENNYPACKER WILL BE SUED UNLESS HE RETRACTS EPITHET.

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—Charles Neelan, cartoonist, has addressed a long letter to Governor Pennypacker, in which he complains of the use of word "outcast" in the Governor's letter on the libel bill as applied to the maker of one of Mr. Neelan's drawings. Mr. Neelan demands a prompt apology, failing to receive which, he gives notice he will bring suit against the Governor for libel. He says in his letter:

"I beg to say to you, sir, that when you applied the epithet to me you uttered an unqualified falsehood. I am not an 'outcast.' I am not a 'vagabond.' If you will not retract but will agree not to plead the privilege of your position as a defense to the wrong you have done me, I will institute proceedings against you within five days and will hurry the case to trial, at the utmost expedition, so the jury in the courts and the larger jury of the people may know whether I am the 'outcast' you have stigmatized me, or whether you are a slanderer and defamer of an honest citizen."

IDORA PARK NOW BOOLE STRIKE OPEN TO THE PUBLIC. STILL ON.

Peoples Pleasure Place to Be Open Afternoon and Evening.

Unexcelled Attractions Which Have Been Outlined for at the Outset.

This afternoon, at Idora Park, Telegraph avenue and Fifty-seventh street was thrown open to the public. It will be open again tonight. Hereafter it will be open every afternoon and evening, Sundays included, for the entertainment, recreation and instruction of the people at the lowest popular prices.

Idora Park is a new departure for the men in the amusement line. It is fashioned after the celebrated old Woodward's Garden of San Francisco and the Chutes of that place.

In the park features, it is superior to either because it is a gem of landscape architecture. In other features for amusement it is equal to either of them in variety and the excellence of the attractions furnished.

There is a large pavilion which is excellently appointed and adapted to the wants, likes and tastes of all classes of people. There is also a scenic railway which has novelties possessed by no other thing of the kind in any of the resorts of this section. There is also an immense structure in which the workings of a coal mine at depth of 2000 feet is shown in the most realistic manner.

There is also a laughing gallery in which the echoes catch and prolong merriment, peals of risibles indefinitely, greatly to the amusement of the audience. There is also among the attractions a toboggan slide, a miniature railway with gardens, lawn and refreshment, and delightful spots in which one may enjoy either sunshine or shade as fancy dictates.

A modern theater has been erected which is elaborately supplied with a full stock of scenery. Every seat in the house is in full view of the stage and the acoustic properties are equal to the best. The opening performance in this theater will be given by the Republic Minstrels, and an excellent corps of vaudeville artists.

Idora Park is a desideratum. There will be no more need of people going to the Chutes or Sunday or on week nights for the purpose of finding relaxation. In this park the fun finds both at much less expense and with a great saving of time being enabled to reach home after each performance at an early hour of the evening or at night.

ROBBED OF ALL HER JEWELS

MRS. LORILLARD VICTIM OF THIEVES WHO FOLLOW HER FROM MONTE CARLO.

LONDON, May 16.—The loss of Mrs. Pierre Lorillard, who is reported to have been robbed of $60,000 worth of jewels, amounts probably to a far greater sum than at first reported. Mrs. Lorillard lost all her jewelry except what she was wearing, and a letter of credit and other valuables. The robbery occurred at the Bourkley Hotel, to which two men followed Mr. and Mrs. Lorillard from Monte Carlo. The police have no clue to their whereabouts.

MANAGEMENT SAYS YARDS WILL RUN WITHOUT OUTSIDE DICTATION.

The strike of the shipwrights at Boole's Ship-yard is still on and as neither side seems disposed to compromise a speedy settlement of their differences is not possible.

The men have been out since last Tuesday morning, claiming when they laid down their tools that the firm was employing laborers to do the work of shipwrights. This, they claim, is in violation of the trade rules.

At their meeting last night they agreed to stay out until the firm unlimited the ship-yards.

Superintendent Russel of the yard, when seen this morning was disposed to look upon the action of the men as a piece of personal spite against the firm. When questioned concerning the alleged violation of the trade rules, Russel said:

"This is a lockout." (Urghh!) (Gag)

"This yard has met every demand of the Shipwrights' Association for better pay and fewer hours, but when the men assume to dictate whom we shall employ to do certain work and who shall not, then, of course, too far, has been our policy ever since the founding of this yard to deal with the men on a basis of individual merit alone. This strike looks to me like the work of a few disgruntled members. We have had in the past, and will not in the future recognize the union. No workman can get any better wages at any shop under a union schedule than we are paying to ours. I see that work in yards is said to be at a standstill. Well, I don't know, not quite sleep about that. We have a smaller force than usual, but this is the slack season of the year. I might add that the men do not leave us. It was virtually a lockout on the part of the firm."

NOTICE TO THE SPORTSMEN.

BOOK TELLS THEM ABOUT THE LAWS OF THE STATE.

Chief Deputy Charles A. Vogelsang has issued, under the authority of the State Board of Fish and Game Commissioners, a neat four-page booklet containing an abstract of the California fish and game laws. It is made of cardboard and about the size of a postal card, making it convenient to carry in the pocket, and it states all that is necessary to know regarding the laws in such a way that it cannot be misunderstood.

A monthly table which shows the open and closed seasons of various fish and game, is one of the contents of the booklet and the seasons are marked by black and white squares. The black denotes the closed season and the white the open. It gives the sportsman the different seasons at a glance and he doesn't have to read over several pages of laws to find when a certain season is open.

The booklet also contains the limits of the bags and the penalties for their violation. On the last page is a list of things which are always unlawful and among them the following are the most important:

To buy, sell, offer for sale, barter or trade at any time any quail, pheasant, grouse, sage hen, bits, plover or any deer meat or deer skins.

To have in possession deer or fawn skins.

To take or kill at any time, does, fawns, elk or antelope.

To take or kill pheasants, or bobwhite quail.

To run deer with dogs during the close season.

To shoot half hour before sunrise, or half hour after sunset.

To trap game of any kind without having first procured written authority from the Board of Fish Commissioners.

To take or destroy nests of game birds.

To ship game in concealed packages or without your name or address.

To buy or sell trout less than one-half pound in weight.

To take at any time sturgeon or female crabs.

To take abalones less than fifteen inches in circumference.

To take trout or black bass, except with hook and line.
To take salmon, shad, or striped bass with a net of less than 7½-inch mesh.
To use a set net.
To take fish in any manner within fifty feet of a fishway.
To take, buy, or sell striped bass less than three pounds in weight.
To shoot meadow larks.
To shoot on inclosed land without permission.

YACHT CLUB TO SAIL ON THE BAY

The California Yacht Club will hold its first race of the season tomorrow and it will be the fourth annual "Dinner Race" of the club. The race will be sailed over a course of ten nautical miles and the winning crew is to be banqueted by their club-mates.

The first of these races was won by the helmsman owned by C. McDonald, Marshall, and the next two were won by the Jessie E., who is captained by Louis Rosenthal. All of the yachts of the club are entered in the race and the measurements and time allowances will be computed according to the 1901 rule, which is the same as the Association. There will be only one class and each boat will be allowed a crew of one man to each four feet of racing length.

The preparation gun will be fired at 12:50 p.m. and ten minutes later the starting gun will be fired. The boats will start from a point just off the Oakland mole and will sail to Blossom Rock, which is a three and one-eighth mile boat to the finish.

Leaving the rock on the starboard side, also leaving that on the starboard side, and will then proceed to the Oakland harbor entrance and up the harbor to the starting point. The race is to be run in a line drawn from the east side of the foot of Grove street and the wharf at May & Wright's shipyard.

All of the entries are to set their chronometers, starting gun and time limit of four hours is allowed the winning yacht. The entire fleet of yachts is considered as entered in the race, and all owners have been requested to be on hand to sell their own yachts.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Colton and son are here from Ohio paying a visit to Mrs. Colton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Jackson.

PORTLAND TAKES ONE FROM THE PETS

OLYMPIC CLUB PLANS MANY EVENTS

NOTES OF INTEREST GATHERED FROM MANY DIAMONDS.

BOXING CARNIVAL WILL BE GIVEN IN MECHANICS' PAVILION.

Portland slugged out a victory from Oakland yesterday with the score 8 to 3. Hart, who twirled for Oakland, was somewhat wild and gave six bases on 3.

The strong wind that blew over the Eighth-street lot sent a victory to Los Angeles yesterday by a score of 5 to 1. San Francisco didn't seem to have a bit of luck and error followed error.

By bunching three hits, Sacramento won from Seattle yesterday by a score of 4 to 3. It took two extra innings to do it, however. Both pitchers were often saved from punishment by good fielding.

"Lajole" Smith, rightfielder and pitcher for Portland, was released by Manager Vigneaux and has been signed by Park Wilson of Seattle.

Park Wilson has agreed to take Hemphill back to the fold again. Hemphill says that he is sorry he left and will be good in the future and always play centerfield with Seattle.

Mike Fisher is going to let Seattle use Cy Young. He thinks that with the remainder of his pitching staff he will have enough to keep his end up.

At midnight last night all the players who remained with the Pacific Coast League were declared "outlaws" by the Associated Minor Leagues. None of the managers fear any desertions.

Corbett is billed to pitch again tomorrow afternoon.

Saturday games across the bay will be called at 3 o'clock hereafter.

Henry Harris has a new second baseman coming. His name is not known, but it probably will be before the first of next week.

The following is the standing of the clubs in the Pacific Coast League:

Clubs	W.	L.	P.C.T.
Los Angeles	23	9	.728
Sacramento	27	14	.658
San Francisco	22	19	.537
Oakland	17	23	.378
Seattle	14	24	.368
Portland	11	26	.297

Portland is the only team with a losing record.

Amateur boxing bouts are very popular in San Francisco and draw large audiences and this state of affairs is caused by the fact that the amateurs throw a lot of energy into their work and there is always a strong spirit of rivalry between the contestants.

Those who have the carnival in hand have the whole city to select from and will get only the very best amateur talent and will use great care in matching them, so as to give a good program of evenly contested bouts.

A number of professionals have volunteered their services to assist in the program. Among them are E. J. Corbett, Jimmy Britt and Willie Fitzgerald.

It is not yet decided whether their offer will be accepted or not, as it is intended to have the carnival a strictly amateur affair. However, the professionals may be used to give exhibition bouts with their training patrons of bag-punching.

Eddie Graney, the young San Francisco referee, who has recently made himself a reputation as a judge of boxing matches, will also assist in the affair and will pass judgment on the various bouts.

Taken all in all, the affair promises to be one of the finest of its kind ever given on the coast and amateurs are tumbling over each other to get their names on the program. It is safe to presume that the big amphitheater will be packed to the doors when time is called for the first bout next Friday evening.

AMATEUR BOXERS.

A good card of amateur boxing bouts was pulled off at the Mechanics' Pavilion Annex in San Francisco last night by the Bay City Club and they were witnessed by a good-sized crowd.

The chief event of the evening was the four-round go between "Rough House" Billy McDonald and Ted Wolfe. The former is a light-weight while the latter is one of the middle-weight class and McDonald gave away nearly twenty pounds in taking Wolfe on.

From the tap of the gong, which started the fight until time was called at the end of the fourth round, there was terrific going on both men making it throughout. McDonald, in spite of his lesser weight, had the best of it throughout the match. Wolfe was out of condition and displayed an unusual amount of grit and took a great deal of punishment.

In the first round McDonald sent his man to the floor for the count, and many thought the bout was over, but Wolfe recovered. The second round the ropes were cleared. McDonald, in the fourth round, the aggressor, and he floored "Rough House" just as the final gong sounded. McDonald got the decision over Harry Shulman, although he had hard work to do it. George Ellis succeeded to Jack Cordell in just one minute's time and Joe Crowley beat Dick Simmons in two rounds. Both bouts being stopped before the latter had taken seven to sleep in the third from the gentle decision.

The next best match of the evening was that between Tom Sears and George Higgins, both strangers to the San Francisco juggling world, and they put up a fast fight, displaying considerable cleverness. Sears got the decision.

After the bout, the judges got the decision over Harry Shulman, although he had hard work to do it. George Ellis succeeded to Jack Cordell in just one minute's time and Joe Crowley beat Dick Simmons in two rounds. Both bouts being stopped before the latter had taken seven to sleep in the third from the gentle decision.

The contests today will decide the championship and are being played on neutral grounds. The play is over eighteen holes instead of thirty-six, as in the former matches, and both teams, which are composed of twelve men each, have marshalled up their strongest players for the occasion. It is needless to say that the matches will be close and the series will only be won by a small margin.

Following is the list of the players of the two teams as they will oppose each other:

RECOVERS HEALTH AND STRENGTH

Chronic Sufferers Cured by a Mighty Subtle Force of Nature. Startling Disclosures Relative to the Most Wonderful Power Known to Man—Doctors Puzzled.

A mysterious force dwells within every man but much stronger in some than others and by inheritance. Sometimes by cultivation it becomes all-powerful. Call this power soul-force, psychical phenomena, magnetism, natural or God-given power, or call it by any name you please, we know it has opened the eyes of the blind, the ears of the deaf and caused the lame to walk and has saved the lives of thousands afflicted with all manner of diseases, after all other remedies have failed. Professor Wellington possesses this mysterious God-given power more strongly than any other man now living as his marvelous cures have demonstrated. The medical faculty marvels at the cures effected by Prof. Wellington which read like miracles of old. This wonderful man is not only a giant physically and mentally but is a dynamo electrically and magnetically. Born with all these these superior powers and developments he was able in his early childhood to relieve pain and cure disease long before he understood its phenomena or was able to demonstrate its philosophy. Prof. Wellington comes from a remarkable family and is the exact counterpart of his mother who inherited all the superior physical and mental qualities of her father. This large and powerful man, weighing 260 pounds, standing 6 feet 4 inches in height with a brain measurement and mental development far above the average man—a mountain of physical and magnetic force yet possessing all the finer qualities and sympathies of the most refined and delicate woman. You cannot come into his presence or grasp his hand without being conscious of his magnetic force and healing power.

The following are a few extracts from thousands of letters received from all over the country.

Mrs. John P. Mitchell, of Prescott, Ariz., writes: "I was tortured for months by terrible pains in my head and this, together with loss of sleep, led to a nervous nervous breakdown. Your treatment has done wonders for me. I sleep well and these terrible pains in my head are gone. Thank God, hope has taken the place of despondency, and I have a new lease on life. I bless the day I heard of you."

Henry P. Williams, Butte, Mont., writes: "When I applied to you for treatment I was a physical wreck, suffering from pains in my chest and stomach and was on the verge of nervous prostration. I had tried everything, and had about given up when I tried your treatment. My pains are gone, my nerves are strong and I feel like a new man. I wish you success in your noble work." —MRS. M. A. BRIGGS.

Every reader of this paper who is sick with any disease is advised to write to this wonderful healer, addressing with stamp, Prof. Wellington, 525 Thirteenth street, Oakland, Cal., stating the leading symptoms of your complaint and ask him to help you and you will undoubtedly be cured as so many others have been.

Prof. Wellington under the professional management of G. M. KELLER, M. D., can be consulted free of charge at his offices in the Eva Building, 525 Thirteenth street. Hours 9 to 5 and 7 to 8.

CHINESE TO GO TO AFRICA

LONDON, May 16.—The importation of Chinese labor into South Africa, was decided upon in principle some time ago, but no definite plans have yet been formed regarding the number to be imported nor the conditions to govern the importation. Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and the big firms of the Rand are in agreement that no other solution of the labor difficulty is possible. About half the stamps at the mines are idle. The conditions at Johannesburg are daily growing worse and business is slack. White laborers docked there at the close of the war but are unable to find satisfactory employment and discontent is rife. This suits the Rand magnates, who are loath to accept the sole responsibility for introducing yellow labor and hope that the trading partners of trade will soon lead to a popular demand for the importation of even the "nated Chinese" so that the mines may be set working at their full capacity with a consequent revival of business depending thereon. Up to the present, however, the trading population of South Africa is bitterly opposed to the importation of Chinese.

SCULPTOR WILL MAKE HIS HOME HERE.

PROF. WELLINGTON
The Great Natural Healer.

FAUSTO GARIBALDI, SCULPTOR.

The accompanying illustration is that of Fausto Garibaldi, the distinguished sculptor, who has recently taken up his abode in this city, under the patronage of Belle-Oudry, the well-known photographer, whose studio is in the Abrahamson Building at the southeast corner of Washington and Thirteenth streets.

M. Garibaldi is a graduate of Ecole des Beaux Arts of Paris. He and Mr. Oudry are fellow-students of art in the French capital some years ago and, since their graduation, have corresponded with one another, and now business demands have brought them together. M. Garibaldi is working on a number of ideas for interior ornamentation of the home of Mr. Oudry in Berkeley. He has also received several orders for busts and mythological subjects from people in various parts of this city.

His studio is connected with the photographic gallery of Mr. Oudry, and he may be found there with his friend and former schoolmate, Oudry, when both are busily engaged daily in furthering the kindred arts of sculpture and photography.

NO BONUS FOR FACTORIES.

OAKLAND'S ADVANTAGES ARE ADEQUATE TO INVITE NEW INDUSTRIES.

At a meeting of the directors of the Oakland Board of Trade yesterday afternoon, a communication was handed to the directors by Messrs. L. E. Pake and William M. Willey as representatives of the Alameda County Federated Trades Council. Inviting the board to co-operate in issuing a joint call for a conference of all civic organization for the purpose of securing special fares (free, if possible) for school children on the street-cars; to secure the readjustment of selling prices of school books, and to secure the right of transfer of schools. In the public schools, without loss of grade, the public schools will be presented the case to the directors and subsequently the contents of the communication were discussed. While the directors were in sympathy with some of the projects, it was decided that it was outside the province of the Board of Trade to join in such a conference as a body.

A corporation desiring to locate in Oakland for the manufacture of baskets, presented a proposition, asking that the citizens, through the Board of Trade, be asked to furnish a site and building and subscribe from $5000 to $10,000 bonus to the project.

The directors voted to abide by the decision of the former board of directors and abstain from offering a bonus to prospective locators, feeling that if the natural advantages offered and the terminus of all railroads from the East and South and the grand water front of Oakland, together with contented labor, a growing city in touch with all parts of the world, were not sufficient inducement to a business man, a bonus would not do other than allow of the building of a factory, and possibly thereafter moving same to some other city. The directors feel that Oakland has reached such a stage in manufacturing importance that a bonus is not necessary to induce thinking business men to see the advantages and locate here.

LITTLE TOT WRITES ON ROOSEVELT.

At the Grove Street Primary School, corner of Grove and Fifth street the little ones were asked yesterday to write compositions about President Roosevelt, as being a subject at that time most largely absorbing their thoughts and attention. Many of the productions were quite unique. One little tot of a girl about 12 years old, for example, wrote as follows:

"President Roosevelt was a brave man.

He came to Oakland. He made a speech at the High School. And then I saw him rushing down Broadway with a whole lot of soldiers and sailors after him."

Girls who work are particularly susceptible to female ills, especially when obliged to stand on their feet from morning until night.

Day in and day out, month in and month out, the year through, the working girl toils; she is often the bread winner of the family, and must work that others may live; whether she is sick or well, whether it rains or shines, whether it is warm or cold she must get to her place of employment and perform the duties exacted from her.

Among this class the symptoms of female diseases are early manifest by weak and aching backs, pain in the lower limbs and lower part of the stomach; in consequence of frequent wetting of the feet monthly periods become painful and irregular, and frequently faint and dizzy spells, with loss of appetite, until life is a burden and it is hard work to drag about. All these symptoms point to a derangement of the female organism, and if taken in time can be easily and permanently cured.

A Cordial Invitation to Every Sick and Ailing Working Girl.

It is to these girls that Mrs. Pinkham holds out a helping hand, and extends a cordial invitation to correspond with her. Her unrivaled record of success in treating woman's ills makes her letters of advice of untold value to every ailing working girl, and from her wide experience and skill she quickly points the way to health. Her advice is free, and all letters are held by her in the strictest confidence. Address, Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Don't put off writing her until your health is wrecked.

Grateful Words from Working Girls Who Have Been Helped.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I want to thank you for what you have done for me. I was dreadfully tired, I stand over my work all day, and no one who hasn't tried it knows how it makes your back and sides ache. I couldn't sleep, and had no appetite, but thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I feel entirely different now; it is a wonderful medicine. I do not feel that my work is hard now, and I recommend your medicine to other girls who are always tired."—MISS ISABEL SURGIN, 293 Willis Ave., New York City.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done so much good for me that I wish to recommend it to all girls whose work keeps them standing on their feet all day in a hot store. The doctor said I could not live and I must give up work, and stay out of doors; he did not seem to realize that a girl cannot afford to stop working. My back ached, my appetite was poor and I could not sleep; menstruation was scanty and very painful. One day when suffering I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me, I soon found that my menstrual periods were free from pain and natural; now my health is fine, and every one is surprised at the change in me, and I cannot be too grateful for what you have done for me."—MISS JANET PAYNE, 390 West 123rd Street, New York City.—$5000.00 forfeit if originals of above letters proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Mme. Le Prince has removed her dressmaking and cloak parlors from 427 Thirteenth street to 571 Thirteenth street, between Clay and Jefferson streets, where she will be pleased to see her former patrons as well as new ones. Her facilities are more extended than ever and the ladies of Oakland and vicinity will find "The Paris" the most satisfactory place of its kind on this side of the bay.

OAKLAND TRIBUNE

Tribune Publishing Company William E. Dargie, President

GUARDING THE PRESIDENT.

Some discussion has been provoked by the somewhat over zealous manner in which the President's person has been policed during his visit to this State. Some of the protectors placed about the President's person have been disposed to advertise their function and to magnify the importance of their duty. This is irksome to the President, who desires above all things freedom of movement, but he naturally does not like to run the risk of giving offense by interfering with the precautions taken by his hosts to secure his personal safety.

But the manner in which the President has been guarded has elements of the comic in it that must appeal to people with a sense of humor. Peacocke in the spring have not been more on dress parade than some of the police functionaries who have by happy accident been thrust into the reflected limelight of the Presidential presence. They have duly impressed the serving maids, bullied the small boys and given others imposing evidences of their dignity and importance; but after all, is not the display more ridiculous than effective? Has it really prevented anybody from injuring the President that desired to do so? Constantly the object of their ostentatious solicitude brushes aside the wall set up between him and the people by Jacks in office that he may touch elbows with his countrymen unrestrained.

Some of the alleged precautions to secure the President's safety seemed more designed to put certain persons to the front than to keep away anarchists with bombs or evil disposed persons. At any rate, they are futile and absurd. The President's own indifference to them and the impatience he manifests when they become over irksome shows how futile and silly they are.

The fact is, the President could have been assassinated at every place he has appeared thus far by any person murderously inclined. The protection is itself farcical and the President himself deprives it of efficacy. He wants to meet the people and get close to them, and a half dozen officious detectives are powerless to prevent harm being done to a man who persists in bumping into the crowd.

The propriety of guarding the President against attack will be denied by no one, but guarding that does not protect is a farce. The two best guarded Presidents—and the best loved, by the way—were Lincoln and McKinley. Both were assassinated.

So far as protection from violence is concerned, President Roosevelt might have journeyed through California without the escort of either soldiers, policemen or Secret Service men. He could have been killed a thousand times. That no one harmed him is because no one wanted to harm him. While it is necessary to protect him from the violence of crowds who would mob him out of a desire to get close to him, the precautions against malignant violence have been comic in their ineffectiveness. The President would have been as safe and far more comfortable without them.

The President has sandy hair. That's in accordance with fitness of things, the President is a sandy man.

The Sacramento Bee has this good word for Governor Pardee's admirable behavior during the time the President has been in California:

"Governor Pardee is complimented upon his good sense in keeping himself in the background and making no attempt to divert attention from the President, during the latter's tour of the State."

"There have been Governors of California, keenly alive to their own dignity and importance, who might ere this have raised some nice question of precedence, and settled it in favor of the Chief Executive of the State."

The conduct of Governor Pardee has been in bright contrast to that of persons of lesser degree, but with more highly developed galls. But while his conduct is praiseworthy, it should excite no surprise. George C. Pardee is a gentleman, and some of the others clothed with a little brief authority are not. Hence the difference in actions. We do not have to go back into past history to find examples.

At one of the banquets given the President the menu bore the legend "Crushed California Raspberries." What barbarian palate ever suggested crushing raspberries, the most delicate-flavored fruit known? It was a rank atrocity to so grossly misuse this noble berry, a berry that cannot be bruised in the slightest degree without losing some of its dainty delicacy. But the vandalism of jaded appetites and long purses knows no bounds, and then there are people who will be lobsters in eating as well as in bearing.

"Crushed raspberries! Fancy! Why not crushed flowers or hashed cake or melted ice cream? The foolkiller must be off on a vacation or he would have performed the last sad rites on the epicurean Bushi-Bazouk who invented the barbarous practice of hitting his raspberries with a club before eating them."

ON ABUSE OF GUESTS.

We fear that President Roosevelt has been given an overdose of California hospitality. We Californians must learn to work our guests so hard or keep them on the go so incessantly. President Roosevelt was worked like a drayhorse every waking hour he spent in San Francisco. Even the majority of his meals were in the nature of public functions. He was not permitted to rest a moment nor move at all on his motion. He was simply collared and rushed around like an automaton.

As soon as the date was fixed for his coming people began setting up the pins to keep him busy every minute of his stay. It was this determination to get him and keep him doing something that interfered with his being allowed sufficient time to pay Oakland a decent visit. He had no sooner finished doing one turn before it was "turn the crank, Jimmey," for another. This is not the way to treat a distinguished guest. There is a limit to endurance and good nature. We should not invite a President out here to work him and weary him to death and bore him till he sighs for solitude or the grave. Just think how we treated Harrison and McKinley before Roosevelt came! Harrison was by nature a silent, reserved man, averse to mingling with crowds, and fond of seclusion, and he was rushed about till he fairly revolted. When his patience was exhausted he simply cut across lots through programs. As this came about in Oakland we naturally felt aggrieved, but the fault was primarily due to the lack of consideration manifested in the excess of our hospitality. San Francisco had worked him to the limit before Oakland got him. His teeth were on edge, being a nervous man of bilious temperament, when he reached town and a mis-thrown bouquet did the rest.

When the lamented McKinley came out here he had the same experience. Only the illness of his wife prevented his being worked beyond endurance. People were not contented with seeing him and hearing him speak; they insisted upon having him do something—they wanted to see him eat and to have him go round and do all sorts of things at all sorts of places, without stopping to consider that all this is very wearisome and physically.

Take last Thursday, for instance. The President early in the morning attended the unveiling of the Manila monument, and had to speak. Then he was rushed across the bay to Berkeley, where he had to speak again and spend some hours at a public function. Luncheon was a public affair. He was then brought to Oakland, and after a drive through the streets, had to speak for the third time. Afterward a swift boat carried him to Vallejo, forty miles away, and he was rushed through the Navy Yard, and back to San Francisco. There he was required to sit through a banquet and make another speech, and at midnight had to take the train for Yosemite.

This is too much. It is cruelty to animals. The law does not permit us to overwork our horses, and surely common politeness should prevent us overworking our guests. Great pains are taken to protect the President from the violence of enemies. More to the point would be measures to protect him from the kindness of friends. He is in more danger of being worked to death by super-serviceable committees than of being assassinated by some crank or enemy.

The editor of the Livermore Herald is sighing for attention. Apparently he belongs to the class that Alexander Pope described as taking a kick as a compliment provided it was administered by a great person. But some things are hardly worth wasting a kick on.

JAMES D. BYRNES.

In the rush of recent events and the festivities incident to the visit of the President, the death of Senator James D. Byrnes, of San Mateo, who passed away last Saturday, received comparatively little notice. Yet Senator Byrnes was a man who had borne his share in building up the State and directing its policy. He was a useful citizen, a firm friend, and a clear-headed man in public life. Although not specially active of late years, he has been a leader in politics for more than two generations.

A native of Ireland, Senator Byrnes came to California in 1855, from New York, to which city he emigrated when a boy. He served for several years as a supervisor of San Mateo county, and was elected to the Assembly thirty years ago. For the last twenty years he has sat almost continuously in the Senate. In 1890 he was nominated for Congress in the Fifth District, but was defeated by illness to decline. Eugene F. Long was nominated in his place and elected for the first time.

Senator Byrnes was very influential, though little addicted to speaking, and rarely failed in anything he undertook. He reared a family of two sons and four daughters, and amassed a handsome competency. Mr. Byrnes will be regretted all over the State.

WITH THE BOOKMEN.

In summing up the qualities of Emerson in the Literary World, Bliss Carman, after calling attention to certain of Emerson's limitations, says:

"Yet in spite of this I think we must concede the greatness of Emerson as an artist—as a master of a style peculiarly his own. For it is the mark of an artist so to impress himself upon his medium, so unmistakably to qualify his work, as to make it a unique product, the very image and likeness of himself. It is always possible to say of the art of any great master: 'This is his; it can be the work of none other; here is the very man himself.' And of whom can we say this, if not of the adorable sage of Concord village? He was an original thinker, it is true, but he also was an original artist; he wrote like no one else. Both in method and in substance he shares with Whitman the distinction of being the most novel and significant of American poets. For incomparable freshness of phrase and trenchancy of diction they are only approached in a younger generation, by that other strange, solitary New Englander, Emily Dickinson. And Emily Dickinson's output, for all its brilliancy and vigor, was somewhat too slight, too unvaried, and too thin, to lift her to a place among the mighty masters of English poetry, though her place among the lesser immortals—the little masters—is secure. Emerson himself is not easily comparable with other poets. At this time of his centennial a white day in the annals of New England, it is more profitable to heed his lesson than to take his measure. In the bewildering maze of a breathless commercial civilization, it is well to have something tonic and unflinching to refer to. We never need Emerson's radiant faith in ideas and ideals more than we do today, and such a faith never seemed farther from our thoughts. If we have read him and pondered him when we were boys, and derived any moral stimulus from his wholesome, glad morality, let us read him and ponder him again."

The Macmillan company is to make a feature of a series of "pocket novels," in which will be included stories by Marion Crawford, Owen Wister, Winston Churchill and Gertrude Atherton. If the scheme takes the fancy of the public it might provide a place for those unsalable white elephants, stories which are too long to sell to the magazines, and too short to be made to look like a novel, even with the most generous allowance of white paper in the form of margins and blank pages. A few writers can sell such stories because they have such a hold on the public that they can put their work in almost any form. Henry James is one of these, and one of his very finest works has been in the form of such intermediate stories, half-way between the "conte" and the novel. But most writers are obliged either to take a single aspect of the subject and compress it into a magazine story, or else pad out the material into a full volume. There are altogether too many novels written in just this fashion, and it is easy to lay the finger on the point where the inspiration stopped and the padding began. As a matter of fact some of the finest of literary works are in precisely the form which for purely commercial reasons is now unde the ban. Most of the best of Poe's stories, for example, are not what would nowadays be called short stories, and they would have been spoiled by further compression. A certain amount of room for development is doubly essential in the case of the writers who, like Henry James, allow their characters to develop in the conversation. A story of from 2000 to 4000 words, which is what the man or boy who "didn't know it was loaded" is still heard from almost daily. Ignorance is almost worse than crime when it relates to a gun.—New York World.

"neered" the short story into prominence and popularity. It was his supreme achievement.

Not only Washington Irving, but Hawthorne, Poe and other American writers, had won popularity for the short story long before Bret Harte began to write. He came, it is true, in an era of larger sales, for the country had grown larger and more accustomed to buying contemporary literature. But he was the pioneer, not of the short story but of the gold diggings, and he won quite sufficient glory from his rich but narrow field.

The New York Tribune calls attention to the lack of distinctiveness in the pictorial covers of magazines; at the present time, and points out that the constant change is so confusing that, for example, a traveler hastening to catch a train might pick up the wrong magazine at a news-station.

The New York Tribune calls attention to the lack of distinctiveness in the pictorial covers of magazines; at the present time, and points out that the constant change is so confusing that, for example, a traveler hastening to catch a train might pick up the wrong magazine at a news-station. Perhaps this difficulty is not serious, but most readers like to see their old friends wear a familiar face. The cover of a good magazine, no matter if it is a little homely, comes to wear a pleasing aspect, because it gives a suggestion of the good things inside. Where each new magazine has a new picture cover each month, all magazines come to look more or less alike, and one turns gladly to a plain familiar cover like that of the Atlantic Monthly or Cornhill.

It is always an embarrassing situation to have to talk with an author whose books one is unfamiliar with. The London Outlook tells how a woman novelist, seeing a young man in her circle who was looking at a picture on the wall, said confidentially: "I know what you are thinking—that picture reminds you of Frederika." "What Frederika?" "My Frederika." The young man grasped the situation and pulled himself together. "No," he said, judiciously, "that is not my notion of your Frederika." He thought he had been quite clever, but he was not yet out of the woods.

"Come, then," returned his hostess seductively, "come and sit down here beside me, and you shall tell me what your notion of my Frederika is."

Katherine and Hesketh Prichard are to publish soon a book of short stories entitled "Roving Hearts." The tales are devoted chiefly to the exploits of empire builders.

The Tamarack No. 2 engine with a single cylindrical drum 30 feet 6 inches diameter obtains a ropespeed of 5,500 feet per minute in a shaft less than 4,000 feet deep. Wooden guides are used in this instance, but steel rail guides, as largely employed in Europe, are more substantial and safer.

When the temperature of aluminum is raised to 600 degrees centigrade it undergoes a molecular change and becomes brittle, although it is tough and hard at ordinary temperatures. At high temperatures it can be powdered in mortar similarly to zinc. If large quantities are used, however, the grains become agglomerated.

The London Athenaeum makes a curious mistake in supposing that the American term for tall buildings is "flatiron." This shows the farce of the "flatiron building" in New York, but the reference is, of course, to the shape of the ground plan.

A new life of Archbishop Lettton of England, by Rev. D. Butler of Edinburgh, is to be published soon in London.

W. Robertson Turnbull, who died recently in England, was the author of "Othello, Critical Study"; "The Imitation of Life"; "Barrie's 'Peter Pan'"; and other works. After a severe injury in a railway accident, Mr. Turnbull was obliged to leave the law and devote himself to literary work and miscellaneous journalism.

"What did you say was the name of the authority?" inquired the judge.

"Brownie, your honor—B-r-o-w-n-e, Brownie."

"My name," said the judge, with a smile, "is spelled G-r-e-e-n-e. How would you pronounce that—Greenie, or Greeny?"

"I shall reserve my judgment on that your honor," replied the attorney, "until the court has rendered a decision on the point now before it."

Judge Greene of Oakland was the jurist in the case and Mich Mullany of San Francisco, was the lawyer. Mullany had a complexion like a ripe strawberry, a brogue as rich as Cork cheese, and a wit as nimble as a Wicklow goat's. The trial was a continual banter between the judge and Irish barrister which both seemed to enjoy, and which reminded one of "The Green Bag" anecdotes of the Irish bar. The rooms were crowded, and they got into conversation without being formally introduced.

"Great many literary lights here," said the plain little man.

"Yes," replied Davis.

"I hear that woman's novel writer Davis is here from America. Can you point him out to me?"

"No," came the reply.

"I don't see what the public wants with such books, when they can get good Scotch stories."

"That's so," answered Davis. "They have the pleasure in reading these Scotch stories of finding persons who are more deficient in the language even than they are."

Paint is one of the best preservatives for buckets or impact-wheels from the cutting action of sand, grit, and talc in the water.

In the electrolytic copper refineries of this country, 74,100 ounces of silver are daily recovered, and 346,820 ounces of gold, valued at $7,152,233, are annually produced.

A short nipple with elbow screwed on by hand is a convenient adjustment to the exhaust of an air-drill, as by means of this the air can be deflected in any direction away from the operator and his candle.

Every mine which uses machine-drills should have a turning-lathe in its machine shop, as there are many duplicate parts, such as the rocker-bolts, bushings, feed-nuts, and even pistons and chucks, which can be made on the spot.

In order to forge smoothly, the faces of both anvil and hammers or other tools, should be smooth and free from dents or scratches. If the face of the hammer is not smooth, it is easy, by means of a grind-stone, to take out the dents.

It is estimated that 2,640,000 horsepower can be obtained from the Alpine regions of Piedmont, Lombardy, and Venice, in Italy. Only 252,000 horsepower at the present time are utilized. The use of this power, however, is constantly on the increase.

It was thought, owing to the relative large percentage of sulphur in the Beaumont crude oil, that this, used in boilers, might be prejudicial to the plates and flues. Results of many tests, however, show that its use is attended with no more trouble than that with ordinary coal.

The Tamarack No. 2 engine with a single cylindrical drum 30 feet 6 inches diameter obtains a ropespeed of 5,500 feet per minute in a shaft less than 4,000 feet deep. Wooden guides are used in this instance, but steel rail guides, as largely employed in Europe, are more substantial and safer.

There is about to be launched on the Clyde the Narragansett, a notable oil-carrying steamer, which has been built for the Anglo-American Oil Company. The vessel is 531 feet long and its displacement when fully loaded will be 21,000 tons. It will carry 12,500 tons, of which 11,000 tons will be oil in bulk, and 1500 tons either coal or oil fuel. The Narragansett will be the largest bulk oil carrier afloat, and will be able to discharge its whole cargo of 11,000 tons in about twelve hours.

ROOSEVELT'S TRIP LEFT BUT FEW HEARTACHES.

Democracy Appears to Be Divided—Attorneyship for Charles Snook—Pardee and State Patronage—Political Notes.

BY GEORGE F. HATTON.

(Special to The Tribune.) SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—President Roosevelt has come and gone, leaving fewer social and political heartaches than were expected. At one time it looked as if his tour through the State would be marked by a trail of jealousies, but practically everything of this nature was happily averted and the visit of the Chief Executive, instead of creating a crop of soreheads, leaves everything harmonious.

Roosevelt made thousands of friends in California and has secured warm and hearty support in many a quarter where apathy existed heretofore. It has been well said that none of his pictures convey the proper impression of his individuality, for he is essentially a man of force and action and the life and zest that he possesses cannot be portrayed upon paper.

What appeared to please the throngs most was his manliness. They liked the sturdy, rugged look upon his face, the legend written there that he considered himself as merely the representative of the people and not in any sense their ruler, and they appreciated the personality he displayed in singling out his friends for recognition, no matter how lowly in the social scale they might be. An ex-private who had seen service in the Spanish war appeals more to the President's heart than a banker, a merchant prince or a man of affairs, and as this feature of his make-up is discernible in everything he does, it is not surprising that the people took so quickly to the President as he went among them.

He made no mistake either on the way he received the plaudits of the crowds that thronged the line of march during the procession. It was a novelty to see a guest of honor stand on his feet throughout an entire parade and the graceful way in which he acknowledged the salutes made a powerful impression.

Roosevelt is a soldier at heart. He likes the sound of bugles, the clanking of spurs, the sheen of steel and the martial odor, and it was a good idea to have his escort in San Francisco consist of negro cavalrymen. They made a splendid showing and were evidently picked men and alive to the honors that fell to their lot, for everything went like clockwork when they accompanied the Presidential corteges.

Those who a week ago were saying that but little enthusiasm attended the visit of the President changed their minds very quickly after his arrival, for he received ovations that stamped him a public favorite in every sense of the word. When instead of the individual "playing to the gallery" that some had pictured him to be, everyone found the President to be a sturdy, resolute, tydial American citizen it did not take long to create the proper kind of sentiment and there is no gainsaying the fact now that the Republican delegates from California to the next National convention will be Roosevelt men to the backbone.

SURE OF NOMINATION.

As a matter of fact, the Presidential tour has removed all lingering doubts that may have existed as to the outcome of the national gathering next year. It will be a surprise, indeed, if any name is presented but his, and about the only thing that remains to be actually done is to elect him.

That this will be much of a task scarcely seems possible, certainly not so unless conditions change very materially during the next fifteen months.

Apart from the prosperity of the country and the national desire to continue business in channels so well suited to it, there is every indication that the Democracy will be as badly divided as ever.

Where the trouble appears to exist for the minority party is that what may be termed Bryanism refuses to die out, Bryan himself is no longer worthy of serious consideration from the standpoint of Presidential aspirations, for he is buried as completely as are his free silver doctrines. But there is a dividing line on the Democratic party, upon one side of which stands the demagogic element that clustered around Bryan and upon the other, the conservative old-time Democrats of the Grover Cleveland brand.

That this distinction still exists is shown by the way the followers of each of these quondam leaders are now getting into harness. The Bryan people are all in sympathy with the element though since the news leaked out of the prospective action by the Regents and as some of those whose names are mentioned carry considerable weight in a fight of this kind there may probably be some crowding at headquarters that will result in another blockade. The University Regents are very staid and conservative in everything they do, though, so those who are looking for political fireworks in that quarter can make up their minds that they will be disappointed.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Attorney Chas. G. Lamberson of Visalia came up during the week.

Ex-Senator Jones of Groveland was among the many country politicians who came in to see the President.

Senator Selvage is down from Humboldt.

Attorney W. H. Hatton of Modesto, although a loyal Democrat came to town to see the show and "rooted" with the rest of the enthusiasts along the line of march.

Assemblyman George Rolley of Eureka has been passing a few days in town. He is to go East soon as a delegate to the national gathering of Foresters.

OPENED BUSINESS IN DECOTO.

SCHOOL CLOSES TO ENABLE CHILDREN TO SEE THE PRESIDENT.

DECOTO, May 17.—Mrs. D. C. Hibbard has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Fred Shornst in San Francisco.

Messrs. Ralph & Olsen have purchased Young's store from George R. Young. They are ambitious young men from Alvarado and are liked throughout the township. They will move their families here as soon as they can secure a house.

The local school was closed Thursday to give the children a good chance to go and see the nation's chief executive at Oakland.

R. B. Young was in San Francisco a few days last week.

George R. Young made a rushing business trip to San Francisco Friday.

Mrs. William Grasslin is visiting her son Fred Grasslin in San Francisco for a few weeks.

Dr. J. R. Aiken and Master Thomas Taiton are spending a week in Lake county in sports.

Mrs. M. Welsh is visiting friends in Santa Barbara for a few weeks.

LAZY COFFEE

Another Name For the "Sloppy" Sort.

Postum Coffee is not made like ordinary coffee for it takes at least twenty-five minutes' cooking to bring out the heavy food value of Postum. It requires some effort for those things, which are really worth while—making Postum requires a little care.

The grocer is in a position to hear of those lazy men who do not take the trouble to make Postum correctly. "I am well acquainted indeed with Postum," says a grocer of Cam. in New Jersey, "for I meet it not only at my breakfast table but I am also associated with it daily in my business."

"Coffe drinking used to be a yest my nerves and stomach but since we have been using Postum in our family in place of coffee the bloated feeling after eating has disappeared and my head is now clear and stomach and nerves alright. We all feel better in every way and find Postum just as satisfactory to our palates."

Now, however, there are indications of a change and prominent among the names mentioned to succeed Snook is that of Charles E. Snook of Oakland. As Snook is secretary of the Republican State Central Committee and was prominently identified with the success of the Pardee campaign it is not unlikely that the Governor would like to reward him in that way if the coast seems clear.

PERSONAL.

Lou Bangs, formerly a well known resident of Livermore, but for some years past an employee in the mailing department of the San Francisco Chronicle, spent a few days in town greeting old friends this week.

FAKIRS, ETC.

Livermore has had no lack of entertainment during the past week, between a street faking illuminating and a hypnotist, who holds forth in the Farmers Union Theater, and a vaudeville show in a tent on J Street. There has been plenty to see and a thing or two to learn, especially by those who come in contact with the street fakir.

PETRAY'S SUCCESSOR.

A good deal of speculation has been aroused as to who will be the successor of H. C. Petray on the County Board of Education. Mr. Petray's resignation takes effect on June 30th, and as he represented the Murray end of the county on the Board of Education, it is expected that a resident of this locality will capture the plum. Several available candidates have been spoken of but, as yet, no one has come to the front seeking the position.

A large number of the pupils of the High school went to San Francisco to see President Roosevelt. The High School was closed for one day so as to give them the opportunity to make the trip.

TOWN TALK.

The story of Franklin K. Lane's hypocritical pose before the iron workers is told in this week's Town Talk. Other "Saunterer" topics deal with incidents of the President's visit to California; Algernon Sartoris's visit and that of the Papal Delegates; bars down in the Century Club; Fairfax Whealton's failure to make good; a gay Countess turned down by the Palace management; a wedding in Park, etc., etc. Roosevelt's visit is treated editorially; also Grove Cleveland's boomerang discussed. There's a resume of all new stage productions in dramatic department, and the musical columns are amply supplied with matter of literary merit.

THE HABIT OF HASTE

EIGHT SPOT ON ALONG-FELT WANT
THE RUN.USE OF TELEPHONE IN RAILWAY
BUSINESS INCREASES
DAILY.

One peculiarity of Americans upon which visitors from other countries comment is the habit of haste. This extends even to eating. Meals are eaten hurriedly and irregularly; food is swallowed half masticated and the stomach is unthinkingly neglected and abused to such an extent that nine-tenths of our people are dyspeptics. Take the case of Mrs. Ida M. Turro, the wife of a prosperous farmer at Balmor, Crow Wing County, Minn. She says:

"Irregular meals and too hurried eating ruined my digestion and I was miserable until, by the aid of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, I was cured. I was in a very low state of health, food of any sort distressed me terribly, gas formed in my stomach and it became sore and bloated. Everything I ate seemed to turn sour. I suffered so much when I ate that I had to almost starve myself. There was a pain in my heart, my bowels were constipated, I felt chilled all the time and my flesh fell away till I was horribly thin. The doctor gave me medicine but it did not help me and I kept growing worse until, at my mother's suggestion, I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They made me feel better very soon and I kept on taking them till my stomach stopped bloating, the pain in my heart disappeared and I became perfectly well again. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to a great many and will always speak of them in the highest terms of praise."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure stomach trouble by their tonic action, building up the digestive organs and enabling them to do the work nature intended them to do. Artificial ferments and predigested foods weaken the stomach in many cases. Medicines should not do the stomach's work but should put it in condition to perform its natural functions. A diet book giving useful information will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

TUCKED LAWN WAIST.

It is Supplied at Last in Oakland. Good-natured people are often irritable. If you know the reason, you would not be surprised.

Ever have itching piles? Not sick enough to go to bed; not well enough to be content.

The constant itching sensation.

Hard to bear; harder to get relief.

Spills your temper, nearly drives you crazy.

Isn't relief and cure a long-felt want?

You can have relief and cure if you follow the advice of a local citizen.

R. Gilgan, confectioner, of 1215 Clay street, says: "I had itching and bleeding hemorrhoids, commonly known as piles for years. None but those who are annoyed day and night with this exasperating affliction has the faintest idea what a sufferer endures, and when at last he finds a means to bring relief he is only too pleased to let his friends and neighbors know what he employed. I went to a drug store for Doan's Ointment. I believe the second application helped. I am not prepared to say that the ailment is radically disposed of, but this I can consistently declare, from the treatment I received more genuine benefit and more immunity from distress and annoyance than from anything I ever used."

For sale by all dealers, Price, 50 cents. Foster-Millburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

All over the country there is much interest being manifested in the increasing use of telephones for railroad business. Already several Eastern roads have adopted the telephone entirely and find it very satisfactory.

CURES CHRONIC CATARRH

Homely Cures Worst Forms of This Disease in Any Part of the System.

It is the height of folly to continue doctoring a catarrhal disease by stomach drugging, when the whole trouble lies in the respiratory organs where nothing can reach the germs but a local direct treatment by inhalation. Homely is Nature's remedy for the cure of catarrh.

Just breathe it a few times daily and it will effect a cure.

You may have catarrh of the stomach, liver or kidneys and Homely will as surely cure it as it will catarrh of the head and throat. The catarrhal germs are in the mucous membrane or tissues and Homely not only kills the germs along the air passages, but enters the blood with the oxygen, killing the germs in the blood.

The medicated dry air that goes through the air passages, and into the lungs when Homely is breathed through the inhaler that accompanies every outfit, is rich in ozone, purely vegetable and filled with marvelous healing and strength-giving qualities.

If you are tired of stomach drugging and seem to grow weaker all the time, throw physic to the "curse" and get well with Homely's own method.

Rev. J. H. Cook of Holliston, Mass., says: "My wife has suffered greatly from catarrh for fifteen years. Nearly four weeks ago she commenced to use Homely and the beneficial effect was immediate. It is very seldom that she needs to clear her head and throat and she is able to rest quietly at night. For years past she has been troubled with pain in her limbs which we supposed was rheumatism, but since she has used Homely that affliction has disappeared."

Osgood Bros. will return your money if Homely does not cure you of catarrh. This shows their faith in the remedy.

tions be spread upon the minutes of this meeting and a copy be published in the columns of the various newspapers of this county and a further copy be of the said The Pacific Christian Endeavorer."

It is with a very great regret that the Endeavorers learn of the serious accident to our State secretary, R. R. Patterson. The elevator in which Mr. Patterson was riding dropped from the fourth floor to the basement with serious results. A speedy and entire recovery is most heartily wished for.

The Best Liniment.

"I have derived great benefit from the use of Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism and lumbago," says Mrs. Anna Higginson, of Tuckahoe, N. J. "My husband used it for a sprained back and was also quickly relieved. In fact it is the best family liniment I have ever used. I would never be without it. I have recommended it to many and they always speak very highly of it and declare its merits are wonderful." For sale by Osgood Bros., Druggists, Seventh street and Broadway.

Monday evening, May 18th, Rev. Chas. M. Sheldon, the author of "In His Steps" will address Christian Endeavorers at the First Presbyterian Church. Mr. Sheldon has been most heartily welcomed in other parts of the State.

On Tuesday night Mr. Sheldon will read one of his unpublished stories in the First Presbyterian Church at Berkeley.

The regular monthly meeting of the Alameda County Christian Endeavor Union will be held on Monday evening, May 18th, at 7:30 sharp in the Y. M. C. A. building. The meeting will be short so that the members may have an opportunity to hear Mr. Sheldon. Seats will be reserved for members. There are several important matters which must be settled so a full attendance is asked for. An amendment to the constitution adding a superintendent for and creating an intermediate department must be acted upon as must also the matter of our State motto.

Interest in the Juniors seems to be reviving. Last Saturday three Junor societies held picnics in Dimond Canyon.

The First Presbyterian of Berkeley, the First Congregational of Oakland and the First Congregational of Alameda were the ones out for a pleasant time. Each society had a large delegation and a fine time was enjoyed by all.

A meeting of the executive officers of the Christian Endeavor Union was held last Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. building. It had been called for the purpose of talking over county work. Many good suggestions for the various lines of work were brought out and, before the meeting adjourned, it was agreed that a similar meeting should be held once a month at the call of President Eli.

The members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian Church, Alameda, took a bicycle ride out over the Redwood Road last Friday evening. About fifteen young people enjoyed a pleasant ride and were thoroughly ready to enjoy the refreshments which awaited them at the church on their return.

A musical and literary program successfully carried out gave the Fourth Congregational Society an enjoyable evening last Tuesday. Some of the members took part in the cantata. "The Mortgage on the Farm" and rendered it very successfully.

The Endeavorers of Eden Township are to be praised for their good and conscientious efforts in visiting the County Hospital. The inmates have come to look forward to with pleasantest anticipation, the visits of the young people. Surely there can be no more laudable effort than the making lives brighter, especially the lives of those who are condemned by sickness to spend days and weeks in pain. It is a practical side of Christian Endeavor life and worthy of emulation by every Endeavorer.

The program for the next county convention to be held on Decoration Day, May 30th, at Hayward's in the hands of the printer. The committee has practically finished its work and will great credit redounding to it. Strong speakers, excellent music and an ideal place for a May convention ought to make this particular convention the best Alameda County has had. Special cars will be run to accommodate those going to the convention.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Alameda County Christian Endeavor Union held Monday, April 20, 1903, the following resolutions were passed by a unanimous vote:

Whereas, A certain publication called "The Pacific Coast Endeavorer" has appeared, purporting to represent the interests of the Christian Endeavorers of this State; and

Whereas, The Pacific Christian Endeavor published at 428 Montgomery Street, San Francisco is the only periodical recognized as the official organ of the Christian Endeavor societies of this State, be it

Resolved, That the Alameda County Christian Endeavor Union in executive committee assembled, this 20th day of April, 1903, do hereby affirm that they recognize only the said "The Pacific Christian Endeavorer" as being the only means of dissemination of Christian Endeavor news throughout our State, and it is

PAINES CELERY COMPOUND

Saved the Life of Mrs. Thos. Wileman Bardsdale, Cal.

The Life Giving Compound That Wives and Mothers Most Need in May.

Paine's Celery Compound does a wonder work for sick and half dead women in May. The conditions of winter have been detrimental to the health of women and girls everywhere; they have declined in nervous vigor, the blood is recking with impurities, the excretory organs do not perform their work, and the digestive machinery is sadly out of gear. The human machine must be cleansed, repaired and strengthened in May. Paine's Celery Compound does the work surprisingly fast, and gives a guarantee of permanent health and long life. It is the one spring medicine that truly nourishes, regulates, and invigorates the entire nervous system, from the brain to the minutest nerve filament. It gives a full rich supply of energizing blood. It clears the muddy, unhealthy skin, it gives an increase in weight, and more refreshing sleep. Whatever be your condition, unhappy sufferer, we give you a blessed assurance of a new and lasting health through the use of Paine's Celery
Compound. Mrs. Mrs. Wileman, Bardsdale,
Cal., writes for ailing and broken down
women as follows:

"I began using Paine's Celery Compound about six years ago. I had severe attacks of sick headache with sick stomach and vomiting. My friends thought I could not live long, but Paine's Celery Compound cured me. I am now able to do all my own household duties for a family of nine, and I can recommend Paine's Celery Compound to any one suffering as I did with sick and nervous headache."

BEHALF OF THE BLACK MAN.

The Rev. Royal H. Brown's lecture last night on "The Colored Man a True and Loyal Friend to This Government in Time of Peace and in Time of War," in Beker's Hall, was well received by an appreciative audience.

Rev. Brown commenced his lecture by telling first of the introduction of the negro into this country in the year of 1620, and how he labored upon plantations and in other fields of industry till 1755-6, at which time the people of this country were British subjects and were groaning under the British yoke.

Even that early, the negro, though a slave, proved himself a true friend to the white man by taking up arms to help him to free himself from British oppression, and the first blood shed in the streets of Boston inatory to the freedom of a people that have developed into one of the greatest nations upon the face of the earth was by a negro, whose name was Crispus Attucks. In his honor and memory stands a monument in the Boston Common to perpetuate his name.

Rev. Brown also pressed upon the minds of his hearers how the negro rallied to the aid of England during the years later, when England tried to re-take this country, and how that General was well received by an appreciative audience.

LUNCHEON TO MRS. DEERING.

Miss Maud Smith and Mrs. George Law Smith gave a large luncheon on Tuesday in honor of Mrs. Frank Prentiss Deering. The handsome house at 2226 Jackson street, San Francisco, was charmingly decorated and the luncheon table was a beauty with its dress of pinkish lavender sweet peas, begonias and maiden hair fern. Each guest had a corsage bouquet and the guest of honor was presented with a handsome Sevres vase as a souvenir. The other guests were Mrs. John F. Swift, Mrs. Austin Sperry, Mrs. Cornwall, Mrs. Charles Deering, Mrs. R. C. Craft, Mrs. E. B. Sanborn of Fruitvale, Mrs. Lindsay, Mrs. C. Mason Kinne and Miss Grace Sanborn.

DINNER TO THE GUS COSTIGANS.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Costigan gave a family dinner last Tuesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus B. Costigan, the announcements of whose sudden San Francisco marriage have just reached us from Baltimore, the bride's home. Mr. and Mrs. Costigan entertained only the family connections but eighteen guests, related by blood or marriage, sat down at the table. Later the health of the bride and groom was proposed by the senior Mr. Costigan and enthusiastically drunk.

The bride in the Costigan family is petite, slender and charming, with a delicious Southern accent and most winning ways. She is making many friends for herself.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus. Costigan have left for the East and South, where they will be the guests of Mrs. Costigan's relatives. They will be away several weeks and may extend their trip to Europe. On their return they will be extensively entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Costigan, Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie Livingston Dunn and their two children and nurses have gone to Mill Valley, where they will spend the summer.

CENTURY CLUB BREAKFAST.

On Wednesday, the Century Club gave a large breakfast which a number of prominent club women attended, just as a number of Oakland men attended the banquet to President Roosevelt at the Palace Hotel on Tuesday evening. Colonel Long was of the number, as were all the Magees and a number of representative politicians and members of the press. Some of the speeches delivered were really notable and of them all I have heard none more highly praised than the one which Mayor Phelan delivered on the presentation of a golden souvenir on behalf of the Native Sons.

ADMIRATION FOR MISS PEARL KING.

Everyone is expressing great admiration for Miss Pearl King, who, on her return from Europe, now back to her work in dramatic reading and expression which she had commenced before she went to Europe with her mother. Miss King is one of those girls who does not believe that because she chanced to be born with the traditional golden spoon that she need be idle all her life. She is greatly interested in dramatic work and had she been born poor I suppose she would have taken upon the stage as a means of livelihood.

THE ARTISTIC WORK OF WOMAN.

The men who dined with the President on Tuesday night and the many wives who viewed the beautiful room have not yet finished talking about the gorgeous decorations and the handsome menu cards—the work of women. The Worm girls, once society girls across the bay, but now thrown on their own resources, were the decorators and the beautiful things they produced with flowers were the marvel of the evening. Gilded baskets, sheaves of pink hawthorn and white, thousands of golden Iris and Beauty of Glazebrook roses and bamboo were the materials used. Then there were garlands of fruit bound with golden ribbons, and real cloth of gold on the tables, and the effect was most beautiful. The only discordant note was formed by the ornate cakes and other examples of the confectioners' art which had been prepared with infinite care by the Palace Hotel pastry cook but which were about as artistic as the Gates Ajar and pillows, and vacant chairs and broken columns with which funerals were once made hideous.

Quite the fad to be assisted by babies if you have them. Little Carmen Stoy looked sweet at her mother's tea, as I told you last week, and little Lorna Williamson was equally sweet when she assisted her mother.

ian, one of the speakers, and a classmate of President Roosevelt in Harvard. Mrs. Whelan shows what artistic sentiment can do, for she took the ugly coat of arms of California and made it into something very charming—a graceful girl and dancing bear, which suggested, but happily, did not resemble our stiffly conventional coat of arms.

FINE SHOWING MADE BY THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

The thousands who were there are talking of the splendid showing made by the University of California on Thursday, when the President received his degree of Doctor of Laws on the stage of one of the most magnificent open air amphitheaters in the world. And, by the way, I understand that one of our townswomen is primarily responsible for the exquisite proportions and actual construction of the splendid structure. Miss Julia Morgan, who has just returned from several years spent in the Beaux Arts of Paris, worked on the design and superintended the actual construction. The theater, of course, is a copy of a famous one in Greece and will ultimately bear a Greek name, but the fine and comfortable proportions of the seats and the perfect acoustic properties were the work of the designer. Miss Morgan is an alumna of the University of California and it was eminently fitting that her first important work should be for that institution, but that is not always the way that things turn out in this world.

Thursday was rather a woman's field day at the University of California, any way, I thought. Though there was no women on the program—three oratorical young men supplying the sophomore orations, full of "problems which confront us"—a woman was granted the medal and one of the prettiest things of the entire day was to hear the roasters cheer her. "Three cheers for Miss Edith McLean," they said, and the three cheers were given lustily and with a will. Two women headed the class in scholarship this year, and it is a notable fact that, with one exception, the only times when the medal has been awarded to a woman have been the times when two women headed the class. There's safety in numbers.

The day was perfect, so President Roosevelt knows that it is not always foggy and windy on these peninsulas. Oakland never looked prettier, and I hope of the best speeches during his stay were the two he delivered in Alameda County—at Berkeley and in Oakland.

If the President were not as strong as two horses he would have succumbed to the strenuous days that he committee laid out for him and which, of course, his secretary accepted. Thursday was an especially busy day, with dedications of monuments, laying of cornerstones, speeches in the cities, banquets, luncheons and breakfasts.

We all know the little bride who figured in this ceremony. She was for a number of years one of the most charming writers on social topics for the press in this vicinity, and her brilliancy frequently illuminated the social page of THE TRIBUNE. Personally, she was as genial, womanly and popular as she was graceful and entertaining as a writer, and when, about three years ago, she was called to the home of her parents beyond the sea, she left a vacancy in social circles which has not since been filled.

Mrs. Carlson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Nelson Lovatt. Her father for a number of years has been in the Consular service of Great Britain, representing that nation in the most important cities in China.

BREAKFAST TO THE PRESIDENT AT BURLINGAME.

At the breakfast given to President at Burlingame by Henry Scott, Mrs. Walter Martin, nee Mary Scott, occupied the seat of honor in the absence of the host's wife. She presided graciously. Most of the guests were Burlingame people, and Henry Scott presided himself, as I knew he would. A Scott would not miss a chance to entertain the President not for forty deaths in the family. Will San Francisco ever cease laughing, I wonder, at the way the Scotts and Morses quarreled over McKinley two years ago? And think how Mrs. Scott was forced at last to take up Mrs. George Morse, who was the President's niece. Mrs. Scott was in Europe this time.

SHE WAS MARRIED IN CHINA.

I am in receipt of a card announcing a marriage, reference to which will be read with interest by a large number of people in this community. It is that of Miss Ida Elizabeth Lovatt to Jean de Carbonel. The news is none the less interesting because it comes from the distant realm of China. The ceremony was performed in the Church of St. Joseph, Hankow, China, at 11 a. m., Wednesday, April 15th.

MISS ETHEL MOTT.

The above portrait is that of Miss Ethel Mott, a young lady well known in this city, and is appreciated where known. She has a distinctive taste for art and is pursuing her studies in that direction with a great deal of interest and under a most competent and successful instructor.

When the guests went, later, to Mrs. Will Meek's, to finish up the afternoon with cards, they found the house fairly overflowing with gorgeous beauty of Glazebrook.

Mrs. Will Meek has such a cozy home, just what you would expect such a hospitable woman as she is to have. They played 500 for a change, and the prizes were won by Mrs. Hayward Thomas, Mrs. Vernon Waldron, and Miss Violet Whitney.

Among the guests were: Mrs. James G. Allen, Mrs. Fred Hathaway, Mrs. Egbert Stone, Mrs. Charles E. Palmer, Mrs. Landers, Mrs. Moseley, Mrs. Charles Minor Goodall, Mrs. Henry Taft, Mrs. Frank Kendall, Mrs. Robert Knight, Miss Stone, Mrs. Doran, Mrs. Harry Meek.

SPRECKLES HONOR TO MISS HOLBROOK.

I think that Olive Holbrook has been more extensively entertained than most brides-to-be. The dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. John D. Spreckles on Monday evening, was a delightful affair. The decorations were American Beauty roses, which make such stately decoration when they are well handled. The guests were, Miss Leontine Blakeman, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Costigan, Miss Charlotte Ellinwood, Miss Ethel Cooper, Miss Berrie Drown, Miss Susie Blanding, Miss Grace Spreckles, Miss Lily Spreckles, Knox Maddox, Harry Wright, Dennis Searle, Howard Veefer, George Whipple and Harry Holbrook, and of course Miss Holbrook and Silas Palmer.

HOW BACHELORS LIVE IN THEIR OWN HOMES.

The breakfast, on Sunday morning, at the "Hutch," was also a delightful affair, in quite a different way, for it was so informal and jolly. "The Hutch" is a most artistic, cozy place, and most girls, I think, enjoy seeing how their bachelor friends live. There were only a few guests, those beside Miss Holbrook, and Silas Palmer, being Mr. and Mrs. Gus Costigan, Miss Alice Findley, Miss Leontine Blakeman, Miss Charlotte Ellinwood, Miss Lily Spreckles, Harry Holbrook, and Captain Harold Cloke, U. S. A.

TOASTS COMING AT THE EBELL.

Next Tuesday's luncheon at Ebell will be a very interesting affair, but unfortunately it is very much limited. It is an unusually small luncheon for the club, including only, I think, the officers. But there will be some interesting toasts, and some interesting papers read, for it is the end of the Club year.

DINED DEEP IN CHERRY ORCHARD.

The luncheon and card party given by Mrs. Harry and Mrs. Will Meek, this week, was one of the prettiest affairs given of the spring. It was at Mr. Harry Meek's cherry orchards.

The honored guests were Mrs. Doran, who is visiting from Southern California, and Miss Jennie Stone, and the decorations were masses of glowing California poppies; they were very effective, for the Harry Meek home is inclined to be rather sombre in coloring.

Then there was a wishing cake, cleverly fashioned of little boxes, each containing a walnut, inside of which was some appropriate wish.

The guests, beside the guests-of-honor, were: Mr. and Mrs. George Greenwood, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Folger, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred von der Ropp, Arthur Goodall, Mr. and Mrs. George McNear Jr., Miss Bessie McNear, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Macdonald, Mr. and Mrs. Eason Adams, Miss May Bell Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Minor Goodall, Vall Bakewell, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rickard.

CARDS WILL FOLLOW A LUNCHEON.

One of the most interesting affairs set for this week is the luncheon to be given by Mrs. Henry Rosenfeld today. Again the honored guest is Mabel Gage. The luncheon will be in the Palace Grill, and will be followed by an afternoon at cards.

GERTRUDE ALLEN STUNNING IN CREPE.

I must tell you something of Miss Gregory's pretty Japanese card-party last Saturday. It was in honor of Anita Lohse, as I told you last week, and so, of course, many went over from Oakland. The Gregory home is extremely artistic, filled with rich rugs, embroideries, and beautiful brasses.

There was almost no decoration, and the effect was very pleasing. We played euchre for an hour or so, and then went down stairs, to the dining-room, where refreshments were served on very daintily-decorated small tables. The prizes carried out the Japanese idea, the prettiest of all, a brass incense burner going to Jane Crelin. I think, and pretty silver sugar tongs to Anita Lohse. There was also an artistic little picture frame, but I don't know who was the lucky one to get it.

Among the Oakland girls who looked especially attractive were Miss Will Cooke, in blue, Edith Guskell in a faint light silk, Mrs. Lundberg in white. Gertrude Allen was stunning in a clinging black crepe de chine, with a beautiful black picture hat; Jane Pore was charming in yellow, Mrs. Montell Taylor was becomingly gowned in lavender. Elsie herself was green, which seems to be one of her favorite colors, and Anita Lohse was in white organdie with knots of blue.

BEAUTIFUL BACKGROUND FOR PALE PINK ROSES.

Mr. and Mrs. Minor Goodall entertained charmingly in honor of Miss Goodall and Dr. Cooper last week. The Goodall dining room is one of the most effective and newest in Oakland. The side walls are paneled in Flemish oak, and the ceiling is cream white, rather a daring combination, but a pleasing one, making a beautiful background for the table which was massed with pale pink roses. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Greenwood, Mr. and Mrs. Edson Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Moseley, and of course, Miss Goodall and Dr. Cooper.

PORCH PARTIES ON THURSDAY.

The question which has greeted one for the past few days is "Did you see the President?" and of course, we all did. Those of us who were fortunate enough to hear him at Berkeley had a treat, for one seems to get so much nearer to the real man when they hear his natural unaffected remarks. And if one was a wife and a mother they were glad they were alive to hear the honor he pays to all mothers.

The glimpse we had of him later, in the parade was not so satisfactory, and, for my part, I was rather distract ed by our city decorations, but they speak for themselves. Haven't I heard that economy is the road to wealth? Then Oakland must have a prosperous future before her.

PUT ON YOUR NEW GOWNS FOR MRS. COTTON'S EUCHRE.

One of the swellest affairs, among those given in honor of Miss Mabel Gage, will be the afternoon at euchre, for which Mrs. Ernest Cotton has sent out cards. The day set is Thursday, May 21. Mrs. Cotton is one of the most charming of the young matrons, and one of the most successful hostesses. Fully a hundred guests have been bidden, and there will be a large receiving party. There are some beautiful gowns being planned for the occasion, so if you haven't a new one, wear your prettiest.

BACK TO OLD BROMWELL HOME ON MADISON STREET.

Another affair which will call out some of the handsomest gowns of the season, is the tea for Tuesday, May 26th, to be given by Mrs. Shirley F. Martin and Mrs. Edward Griffiths. It will be at the home of Mrs. Martin's mother, Mrs. Bromwell, on Madison street, which is one of the stateliest homes in Oakland. Thomas Williams occupied it for some time, but now Mrs. Bromwell has again taken it, and it will make a most beautiful setting for a tea. Several hundred invitations have been sent out, and the receiving list includes: Mrs. W. Balfour Heron, Mrs. L. L. Bromwell, Mrs. E. G. Lukens, Mrs. W. E. Hamilton, Mrs. Walter Kerney, Mrs. J. Dornin, Mrs. Fred Stolp, Mrs. Montel Taylor, Mrs. Churchill Taylor, Mrs. C. E. Parcells, Mrs. Francis Musser, Mrs. Robert Fitzgerald, Mrs. Croellin, Mrs. Thomas Cole, Mrs. Harry Melvin, Mrs. Linda Bryan, brought much happiness with him, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baldwin. Mrs. Kittredge, Mrs. Baldwin's mother is with her, and I think that, later in the summer, they will come up to Oakland, and probably open the Los Gatos home, Mrs. Ercelin, for the summer. Harriet Kittredge was one of the most beautiful girls in Oakland, and if the small boy will be anything like his mother, he will be a most charming fellow.

ATTRACTION OF SANDWICH ISLANDS.

Mrs. John Waterhouse, with her little daughter Patti, arrives on the next steamer from the Islands, and will make a visit of six months or more. She will stay with her mother, Mrs. Sam Alexander, and Mr. Waterhouse will probably join her later. There must be a fascination about the Islands, for Island people always seem restless when they are away, and no matter where they make their home, sooner or later they find their way back to the Islands again.

DETAILS OF A COMING WEDDING.

I've a few more details of the Chickering-Sherman wedding. It will be a plain and white wedding, the bridesmaids gowns, of pink tulle over pink silk carrying out the color scheme. Emily Chickering will be maid-of-honor, and will wear white lace over silk. The bridesmaids are: Miss Jessie Sherman, of Sacramento; Miss Patti Chickering, Miss Mabel Donaldson, Miss Emma Moffat, Miss Myrtle Sims, and Miss Edna Wemple. Harry Chickering will be best man.

TREATING FRIENDS LIKE OLD GOWNS.

This is a show which doesn't fit many of our Oakland girls, but we occasionally see some of it.

It is a habit of treating friends like gowns, wearing them for swell occasions till the newness is gone, then laying them aside to use when we haven't a newer one.

How many of us know what it is to meet some one we have always admired, have them admire and make much of us, and then, when we're beginning to feel that friendship is taking the place of acquaintance, be quietly laid aside for the next one, one who entertains more elaborately or one who knows many men, or whose gowns are the envy of all beholders? And, then, when no brighter star is in evidence, to be called back again, given a pat and a kiss for our injured feelings, and expected to be ready to fill in when an extra girl is needed, and to be made use of generally?

I know of one girl of this description and her form of address is in accordance to your gown. If it is a particularly stunning one, you are "Mary, dear," or "Elin, dear," particularly if she meets you in conspicuous places, but if you're in a simple tailor gown, you're "Miss Smith," or Miss Brown," with all politeness.

Another bases her greeting on the people you're with, and her cordiality increases in direct ratio with the "swellness" of your company. Another finds new points of interest in you when there's entertaining in the air, and so on.

To attend a function with one of this variety is an interesting experience. With a restraining hand on your arm, she looks over and above you for desirable parties. When one is spotted she pours her enthusiasm over him or her, returns to you, and looks for another. And you may ply her with wit and gossip and choicest scandal, it's all one, there's a far look in her eyes, calculation in her soul, and your words are like an ill breeze about her ears.

PUT ON YOUR NEW GOWNS FOR MRS. COTTON'S EUCHRE.

On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Chickering gave a very informal tea in honor of Miss Alma Sherman, who is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Chickering until the wedding next Tuesday. It was a very simple affair, but those of us who hadn't met the bride-to-be, were glad of a chance to meet her. She was prettily gowned in a pale green lace trimmed frock, Mrs. Chickering wore a black and white silk, Emily Chickering was in pink and white muslin. I noticed Edith Selby, in a white cloth gown, Gertrude Allen in that stunning blue and white pattern suit, with the big black hat which she wore at the May fete, Lila Schlessinger, and a number of the younger girls.

YOUNGER SET PLAYS CARDS.

One of the interesting affairs given by the younger set was Miss Bessie Coghill's card party, last week. There were about fifty guests, and the house was charmingly decorated with quantities of roses. "Hearts" was the game played throughout the evening, and the prizes went to Gladys Coffin and Ruth Woodbury, and John Blanchard and Henry Mills.

GOOD THINGS FOR LITTLE ONES.

And going among a very much younger set, Mrs. Duncan gave a children's party for little Flossie and Mrs. Louise Allender, Mrs. George de Golia, Mrs. Tyler Henshaw, Mrs. Irving Lewis, Mrs. George Gross, Miss Mabel Gage, Miss Ella Sterrett, Miss Edith Gaskill, Mrs. Vernon Waldron, Miss Gertrude Allen, Miss Gall Converse, Miss Claire Converse, Miss Elsa Marwedel, Miss Crisbie Taft, Mrs. George Hammer, Mrs. Charles Rossier, Mrs. James Watson McClure, Miss Elsa Bennett and Mrs. Charles Robert Egely.

CAT, CODFISH AND CANARY.

Florence White's anagram party last Friday, was a most successful affair.

How we did rack our brains for birds and beasts and fishes! And what awful silences there were when we should have been showing our knowledge of Natural History! My own repertoire was confined to cat, codfish and canary, and I wasn't alone in my limitations. It was an awfully jolly party, and a pretty one, too, for the house was beautifully decorated in spring flowers, and there were some stunning gowns worn. Among the noticeable gowns were those worn by Miss Isabelle and Ada Kenna, Miss Taft, Ethel and Jacqueline Moore, Pauline Fore, Claire Chabot, Elsie Everson, and Emily Chickering. Mrs. White and Florence leave this week for the East, where they will travel extensively.

OVER THE HILLS BY MOONLIGHT.

There are all sorts of good times going on at the Butters home in Piedmont. The latest and one of the jolliest was a moonlight ride last Wednesday evening. They took a long course over the hills, and returned to supper at Alta Vista. Among those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Wingate, Mr. and Mrs. George Greenwood, Miss Sterling, Miss Marguerite Butters, Mr. and Mrs. Wickham Havens, Miss Hilde Berger, Charles Berger, Ray Baker, Harold Havens, Seaton Lindsey, Paul Edwards, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Butters.

LADIES' MEN WITH CORSETS.

I was amused this week with an article on men wearing corsets. Women are fond of talking about the vanity of men, but when it comes to thinking of a man cinching himself into corsets, especially our American men, it's a far-stretch of the imagination, but they may come to it. They have come, this article says, to look with suspicion on the map with the small waist, and don't drop handkerchiefs and gloves in his direction, and expect him to pick them up. Just have mercy on his corset steels.

THE MEDDLEF.

REBEKAH SOCIAL.

Last Tuesday, Marie Jorgensen, district deputy president of District No. 7 of the Rebekahs, gave a luncheon to her staff of installing officers, who had served her for the past year.

The house was beautifully decorated with flowers and potted ferns and plants.

Sister Jorgensen was assisted in receiving by her two daughters, Miss Annie and Laura and Sister Corilla Wilson.

At 12 o'clock the guests began to arrive and by 2 o'clock all expected guests were present. At 2:30 o'clock all were invited to the drawing-room where coffee had been previously laid out for about 100 guests. After all were seated Sister Jorgensen stated that she had taken his feeble means to show her appreciation of the many kind acts and wishes besterved on her by her set of installing officers during her year as district deputy, and that she wished to show her appreciation of the same. A very elaborate menu was then served interspersed with speeches and toasts.

Sister Christiana of Fair Oaks Rebekah Lodge then proposed a rising vote of thanks to the deputy, Sister Jorgensen, who had so ably entertained all.

Present rose to their feet and congratulated Sister Jorgensen in a body, and at 5:30 o'clock dispersed, wishing Sister Jorgensen many more years of prosperity and happiness.

Among those present were: Ann. H. Liles, treasurer of the Rebekah State Assembly; Marie Jorgensen, district deputy president; the following past district deputies: Ernestine Welch, A. Bernita Long, and Vice Grand Magistrate of Golden Link Rebekah Lodge; Vice-Grand Sarah Ury and the following members of Rose Rebekah Lodge of San Leandro: Ella Morgan, Tillie Munich, Celia Campbell, Fannie B. Bundock and Laura A. Eber; District Deputy-elect Celia Priestly and the following members of Alameda Rebekah Lodges: Catherine Hammond, Eliza C. Covell, Marjorie Christensen, Mary H. Pennell and Ada M. Caswell of Fair Oaks and Elizabeth Lancaster, J. Elinor Konning, Mary H. Jonstock and Annie Muirhead of Golden Link and Marie Hamiton and Corilla Wilson of Brooklyn Rebekah Lodge; Mary B. Governor Pardee's New Hat Caused a Sensation—Correspondents Forgotten at Berkeley.

THE KNAVE

Metcalfe Knows How to Dress—Mayor Schmitz and His Hat—Inside Gossip About the President.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—Over at Berkeley the newspaper men in the President's train received another of those jolts which result in giving a place a bad name the world around. Some day it will dawn upon the committee of arrangements that the first men to look after are the newspaper correspondents—not the last.

With the President were Coleman of the Associated Press, Dennison of the Laffon News Bureau and Hazard of the Scripps-McRae League.

These men are in the President's confidence. A little instance will show how close they are. When the party was preparing for the Golden Banquet at the Palace Hotel, they were mindful of that foolish dictum of the Reception Committee that they must wear white vests and white ties and full dress suits. Some of them had no white waistcoats. Dennison found his white ties had been left on the train. The President, who rarely wears a white tie, had two in his stock. He wore one and sent the other to Dennison.

These correspondents speak to practically everybody who reads a newspaper in all this country consequently it is of far more importance that their comfort and convenience should be looked after than the comfort and convenience of a hundred peacockish politicians who are trying to shine for a day in the reflected Presidential luster. But the newspaper men who went to Berkeley with the President found, when they alighted from the special train, that no vehicles had been provided to take them to the Hearst amphitheatre. So they had to foot it through the dust and heat. When they arrived at the amphitheatre they were stopped by the armed men and had all sorts of trouble in getting to a place where they could tell the world what was going on. Consequently the world probably was not told many pleasant things about Berkeley and our State University. The Stanford arrangements were perfect, and as a consequence Stanford got a fine bit of general advertising for nothing.

When President McKinley came West two years ago, El Paso gave the newspaper men of the party a banquet. Charles Emory Smith, a newspaper in all this country consequently General, was the guest of honor. The Mayor and the civic dignitaries both local and federal and the Governors of Chihuahua and Sonora were there, the decorations were exceptionally elaborate and the affair was singularly successful. I saw one of the promoters of that banquet in Los Angeles the other day. He said he thought that feast had done El Paso more good than anything since the building of the first railroad to it. I wonder how long it will be before other communities "tumble" to the importance of treating properly the men who speak directly to the millions of the land.

Undoubtedly many millions of people now regard San Jose as a dusty, arid section of the world. This is because on two occasions now the dust has been the most notable feature of the receptions to two Presidents. Foolish committees in San Jose took both the McKinley and the Roosevelt parties over long and uninteresting and exceptionally dusty drives. In doing so they did much to "knock" their city, which really is one of the fairest in all the land.

The Mackenzie faction are bubbling with joy over the fiasco of the reception because it was managed by the Hayes Brothers and their reform faction. Here are sample paragraphs from the Evening News, which is the Mackenzie organ:

"Forget it."

"Couldn't see 'em for dust."

"Had a ride in the carriage with the President anyway."

Now the Mackenzie chaps need not chuckle too loud for two years ago they dusted the McKinley party almost as badly as the Hayes brothers dusted the Roosevelt party this year, and as far away as Redlands the men with Roosevelt who had been with McKinley began talking with unpleasant anticipation of the visit to San Jose.

But Burlingame stands out above all other places in the land as the home and center of courtesy. There the correspondents who were with McKinley were so grossly insulted that the correspondents who were with Roosevelt would not take similar chances on similar treatment and positively refused to accompany the other members of the Presidential party to the Burlingame Club house or to the guests, under any circumstance, of Henry T. Scott. That is the first time on the trip that the correspondents have not taken their orders from the President. But when he heard their reason for refusal, he made no criticism.

Governor Fardee's hat has become one of the noteworthy incidents of the President's reception in San Francisco. Now, no man with any real thought thinks that matters of dress cut any figure in a man's personality. But with the general public such trifles do count for a great deal, and Fardee has been unfortunate enough to get himself laughed at.

The Governor has an aversion for the tall silk hat, which in the West is a symbol of top-lodging and aristocracy. Had he clung to his old black "slosh" they would have been little comment, more than there was over the black "Fedora," which Mayor Schmitz made rather conspicuous among the tall "tules" of the Presidential party. But Fardee worked what he may have considered was a compromise, and greeted the President in a new opera hat—one of those collapsible head coverings intended exclusively for evening wear. It looked strangely out of place in the broad glare of day, and became the subject of many jests among the members of the Presidential party.

That Presidential party is punctilious in matters of dress. Secretary Loeb issues orders on the train as to just what sort of garments are to be worn at each stop; and so it can be imagined that the Governor's head covering was something of a shock to the careful Easterners. And though the criticism of a man because of his clothes should remain the part of fools, there is no doubt the wearing of that hat hurt Fardee with the visitors and with the San Francisco men about town.

"Will we never have a Governor who knows how to dress like a gentleman?" sighed a Pacific Union Club man.

"Metcalfe is our only Congressman who can wear a frock coat and not look as if it were made for some body else," sighed another.

"And the visitors also made comments on the Governor's wishes, though the President was a good deal taken with Fardee once they were together. President Murray Butler of Columbia was open in saying that Fardee is a good deal of a man. In fact, Columbia's president, the most popular man in all the Presidential party, thinks Fardee is strong political timber to be used in building the house of the Nation's greatness. When another of the party complained, "I can't stand his whiskers," Dr. Butler told him to forget that peculiar beard and consider the man behind it. But the quicker our public men realize the political value of a good grooming and an impressive appearance the quicker California will take her place where she belongs in the councils of the Nation.

Steve White, for instance, admittedly the brainiest man in the Senate. If he had paid more attention to his personal appearance he would have taken a still higher position in the council of the truly great men of the Nation.

Schmitz stuck to his old black hat. He is a handsome man, and the women are inclined to rave over him. Then, at the Golden banquet he went to the front and made the hit of the evening.

Even Secretary Moody couldn't quite divide the honors with him. All the other speakers save those two were forgotten in the after-dinner talk. So Schmitz, who seemed again on his way back to his fiddle, has seemed to another of those sudden and new leases of political life, and there is no telling what will happen now.

But in politics, watch the Democrats. They are fighting like cats and dogs and badgers. And when the Democrats are fighting they are dangerous. That has been the lesson of many years. Hearst is giving them something to fight over and something to fight with. So Livermore and O'Brien and McNab are having a three-cornered ruction and there seems more real Democratic life than there has been since the days of Buckley. So the Republicans may as well stop and think how often they have killed off their old enemy, and how often that old enemy has come back to life; and they may as well close up their ranks for another assault from all the yelling and howling Democratic horda. There is no danger in the Democrat when he is at peace with himself. But once let his right hand get to fighting his left and he is far more dangerous to political bystanders than to himself.

THE KNAVE.

HE DOES NOT APPROVE OF WHEELER.

John A. Jones Pays His Respects to Snobocracy.

As of the Roast on President on the Oakland Boat.

EDITOR TRIBUNE.—Having read in the "Evening Post" of San Francisco, of the 16th inst., a reproduction of the article that appeared simultaneously in THE TRIBUNE, reciting the fact of President Wheeler's failure to mention the names of Mrs. Phoebe Hearst and that of her son, William Randolph Hearst, as donors to the State University on the occasion of the President's visit and the distribution of diplomas to the graduates, the writer was stirred to the depths of his soul by righteous indignation, and he gave voice to his feelings in earnest and plain speech in the hearing of the American citizens who were on the lower deck of the 5 o'clock boat from the city that evening.

He said, among other things (and he now repeats the strongest language he used): "If it be a fact, as reported, that President Wheeler, by deliberate intent, it scarcely could have been done inadvertently—omitted on that occasion and in that presence, standing in the magnificent amphitheater that is the munificent gift to the University of William Randolph Hearst, omitted or refused to give recognition to the grand generosity of Mrs. Hearst and her son as donors to and benefactors of our great University, then, by such act Benjamin Ide Wheeler proves himself to be a narrow-minded cad and snob, who should not be permitted to disgrace California by being allowed to remain at the head of her University any longer than is required to get rid of him."

This was and is strong language; the writer admits; and, naturally, it provoked the ire of some university students who were in the crowd. These tried to intimidate the speaker (the writer), but he challenged any one of them to step forward and defend the act of President Wheeler, assuming that the newspaper report chronicled the fact.

The only sane defense attempted was, "more than likely Mrs. Hearst had requested President Wheeler to make no mention of her name and that of her son as donors to the University."

Now, Mr. Editor, the primary object of this communication is to say, if such statement shall be made by Mrs. Hearst in her exoneration of President Wheeler, then the writer will make all reparation in his power for any injury his talk may have done President Wheeler by making public apology.

But the writer desires in this connection to say that no amount of threats or intimidation by students of the University impels to such course, but simply his own innate sense of gentlemanly propriety.

He is man enough to rebuke injustice and criticize him who is guilty of it, no matter how high up in the social or official scale he may be. And the writer will say for himself, further, that when it shall become known to him that he has been guilty of an injustice toward any one by action or speech, he is gentleman enough to confess his wrong and apologize therefor. Yours truly,

JNO. AUBREY JONES.

P. S.—It is, perhaps, proper to add that one other strong utterance made by the writer during his harangue above referred to was: "If the spirit of true Americanism does suffer the blight of snobocracy, and if our democratic Republic does become supplanted by a despotism, it will be largely because there are too many such men as Benjamin Ide Wheeler presiding over our great universities and imbuing our young men with their snobbish, would-be aristocratic spirit."

J. A. J.

(Mrs. Hearst did not request President Wheeler not to mention her name or that of her son in connection with donations to the University.—Editor.)

GARDEN PARTY.

This afternoon a garden party is in progress at the residence of Rev. and Mrs. William Carson Shaw, 110 East Twenty-seventh street. Many prominent society girls are lending their aid and the affair will be a grand success.

The choir guild of the Church of the Advent have the party in charge, and the proceeds will be applied for the benefit of the choir fund.

The Japanese tea-house is presided over by charming Geisha girls, who serve the fragrant beverage in Japanese style. The ladies in charge are Miss Edith Swain, Mrs. Jamison and Miss Welsh.

The German kaffee kloch is another interesting feature. The fair maidens who dispense the coffee are Miss Pollitt, Miss Emma Wilkins and Mrs. William Carson Shaw. The Misses Wilkins, McEwan, Marion Darby, Petty and Price are in attendance at the ice cream booth.

The children thoroughly enjoy the occasion, as the Daughters of the King have in charge an orange tree with magic fruit. They have also provided ponies for the little ones to ride. Home-made candies are being sold by Mrs. Davis and Nana Swain. An Egyptian seeress is telling fortunes and delicious nectar is being served by Miss Olney and Darby.

Geles and other musical attractions are being sung by the church choir. An excellent program will be rendered this evening. Talent from both sides of the bay has been secured.

The opera comique entitled, "My New Maid," will be sung by Miss Nana Swain and Miss Edith Swain. It is written for two people, and is clever and amusing.

ZEH-VOGELANGER WEDDING.

Last evening, at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Max Franck, on Clement avenue, in Alameda, Miss Verena Vogelanger became the bride of George D. Zeh. Rev. J. T. O'Connell of St. Joseph's Church performed the ceremony. Miss Little Burgalin was maid of honor, little Miss Florence Desky was flower girl, and Thomas Handy best man. The bride's gown was a magnificent cream satin and crepe de chine trimmed with pearls and applique. She wore a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses.

Following the ceremony a grand reception and banquet was given, at which were present a large number of the relatives and friends of both bride and groom.

The young couple have gone on a honeymoon, and upon their return will reside in Bakersfield, where the groom is business manager for an oil company.

Bennett, Mrs. Harry French, Mrs. Edholm, Mrs. William Schwander, Mrs. Julius Ellis, Mrs. Emery, and the Misses Rice, Anna Bradley, Alice Bennett, Ruby Orton, Gertrude Kimball, Lucia Oliver, Blanche Wimble, Florence Page, Helen Fitzsimon, Miss Hubbard and Daisy Fitzsimon.

HAYWARDS.

Haywards, May 16.—Dr. Fred William Browning was recently elected grand master of the A. O. U. W., and stands now as the representative of 23,000 men. The doctor has only been a member of the order for seven years, but during that time he has gone through all the chairs in the subordinate lodge, and was then chosen representative to the grand lodge. At the four sessions he has attended, he has risen to the high post of grand master workman. From the point of years of membership, he is the youngest grand master the order ever had in the State. Dr. Browning is a native of England. He graduated from the medical department of Edinburgh University in 1885, where he was for a time assistant lecturer in the chair of pathology and physiology. Later he was assistant surgeon in the Royal London Ophthalmic Hospital for two years. This is the largest hospital for special diseases in the world, treating over 40,000 different eye cases every year. The doctor has also written several important medical papers. He came to America nine years ago, and has spent the greater part of the time in California. He is past high physician of the Independent Order of Foresters of California, member of the committee on legislation of the Grand Lodge of Druids, past council commander of the Woodmen of the World, past commander of the Macabees, and president of the Haywards Board of Trade.

KRUTTSCHMITT REPLIES TO
BOILER MAKERS.Southern Pacific Manager Says No
Locomotives Are Being Loaned
the Union Pacific—No Piece Work Contemplated.

General Manager Kruttschmitt has issued a statement intended to discourage the threatened sympathetic strike of the Southern Pacific boilermakers. Manager Kruttschmitt says that the pending difficulty which may result in a strike is due to a misunderstanding. He claims that efforts are being made to draw the shop employees of the Southern Pacific Company into a sympathetic strike by insisting that the Southern Pacific is assisting the Union Pacific by loaning or selling locomotives.

He says the Southern Pacific employees have no relevance of their own, and that their complaint in regards to loaning the Union Pacific locomotives is without foundation. He also states that the order to strike is in violation of the agreement between the boilermakers on the Pacific System and the company requires thirty days' notice for either party to the other of a desire to change the relations established thereby. The chief points made by Manager Kruttschmitt are: "As our shopmen are perfectly satisfied with their treatment, rate of pay and working rules, we were careful to do nothing that could remotely be construed as aiding or assisting the Union Pacific. Therefore, they have absolutely no grounds for stopping work."

"On May 6th the chairman of the Boilermakers' Committee showed the General Superintendent of Motive Power an order from the President of the Boilermakers' Union at Kansas City to strike on the 11th. The agreement between the boilermakers on the Pacific System and the company requires thirty days' notice from either party to the other of a desire to change the relations established thereby. The Committee claimed that notice had been served on the Division Master Mechanics on April 8th but upon inquiry this was shown not to have been the case, and in conference with the committee they admitted that a mistake had been made in not doing so."

"We have been given to understand that two reasons existed for issuing the strike order to the Southern Pacific boilermakers. First—Because the Southern Pacific had helped the Union Pacific by transferring locomotives, and, Second—That it was feared that piece work, prejudicial to the men, was to be extended in the boiler shop.

In response to the first, the committee was assured by President Harriman in a conference in his office in San Francisco that shortly after the Union Pacific strike he had issued an order that the Southern Pacific officers were to take no steps to assist the Union Pacific in any manner whatsoever. This order has been strictly followed and assurance to that effect given to the committee.

The no strike of piece work in the boiler shop has proved in the same manner of December 19, 1902, which pledges the men as well as the company to thirty days' notice. The best answer that can be made to the alleged intention of the Southern Pacific Company to extend this plan of work is to repeat a personal assurance given by the president of the company to the boilermakers when they visited him that "the Southern Pacific Company does not intend to extend the piece work system in its boiler shop without conference and agreement with the Committee."

"In response to the first, the committee was assured by President Harriman in a conference in his office in San Francisco that shortly after the Union Pacific strike he had issued an order that the Southern Pacific officers were to take no steps to assist the Union Pacific in any manner whatsoever. This order has been strictly followed and assurance to that effect given to the Committee."

"Piece work will not be introduced in the shops."

CIRCULAR TO SOUTHERN PACIFIC EMPLOYEES.

The railroad circular, which is approved by President E. H. Harriman, says:

"Southern Pacific Company, Office of the Fourth Vice-President and General Manager, San Francisco, Cal., May 14, 1903—The threatened sympathetic strike of the boilermakers is under consideration. It is due to a misunderstanding of the issues involved in the strike of a year or so ago on the Union Pacific, coupled with fear of an intention to force the extension of piece work. We therefore think the matter should be explained beyond chance of further misconception."

About a year ago the boilermakers on the Union Pacific struck for a 10 per cent increase in wages and certain shop rules which had nothing whatever to do with the question of piece or premium work, as the subject was never at any time mentioned. It is not known whether the strike could have been introduced on that road but for the strike. The increase in wages was declined, as the Union Pacific was already paying from 7 to 15 per cent more than any of its neighbors and the adoption of the proposed rules would have placed the administration of its shop affairs in the hands of its employees. Following the strike new men were employed, new locomotives bought and the shop operations of that road after a short while resumed their normal character.

Ever since efforts have been made to draw the shop employees of the Southern Pacific Company into a sympathetic strike by insisting that the Southern Pacific was assisting the Union Pacific by loaning or selling locomotives. As our shopmen are perfectly satisfied with their treatment, rate of pay and working rules we were careful to do nothing that could remotely be construed as aiding or assisting the Union Pacific. Therefore, they have absolutely no grounds for stopping work.

As to the statement that the Southern Pacific Company took locomotives from their lines and gave them over to the use of the Union Pacific Company, while we might say that they did, we are not in a position to prove the same. "So far as I know no piece work has been done in the Oakland shops, and I believe that now there is none done in Sacramento, although about the latter I am not certain. I do not believe in piece work for the reason that it causes discontent among the men. Some will work steadily than others and get more done, and this causes a jealous feeling. Then the harder one works the more cuts in the wages will come, until a man will have to slave in order to make a day's wages."

I received a telegram from the two delegates sent to Chicago to confer with the officials there about the trouble, and it stated that they would go to New York and there hold a conference Tuesday night, and after that meeting we will probably know whether there will be a strike or not."

Meeting at Lightning Speed.

CHICAGO, May 16.—Six union boilermakers and E. H. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific and chairman of the Board of Directors of the Union Pacific arrived in Chicago last night in Mr. Harriman's private car.

Mr. Harriman is suffering from appendicitis. His daughter's condition grew critical.

He invited the union men to come to Chicago with him on his special train.

George McKeon of Oakland, Cal., and H. J. McCracken of Sacramento, were appointed by the Southern Pacific boilermakers to accept the invitation. The two men started on their rush across the continent.

At Omaha President J. T. Kendy, Martin Douglas and Thomas McGovern of the Omaha boilermakers, joined the party. The men had failed to call out the California men had voted to call out the Southern Pacific boilermakers in sympathy with those on the Union Pacific. National President McNeil of the boilermakers' Union was non-committal.

The conference continued in Mr. Harriman's private car. The boilermakers' and President Burt did most of the talking. Mr. Harriman, pale and weak, sat with a weary look in his state-room between two of the boilermakers, and put in a word now and then.

HE IS A PIONEER OF EDEN TOWNSHIP.

L. C. MOREHOUSE.

L. C. Morehouse is one of the pioneer residents of San Leandro, and has done more than any one man to advance the interests of his locality. He served as a member of the State Board of Equalization and made an excellent record. Mr. Morehouse has a host of friends in Alameda county and, in fact, throughout the State.

The conference continued in Mr. Harriman's private car. The boilermakers' and President Burt did most of the talking. Mr. Harriman, pale and weak, sat with a weary look in his state-room between two of the boilermakers, and put in a word now and then.

ELIOT A CYCLIST AT SIXTY-NINE.

Harvard University has a president who rides a bicycle at the age of three-score years and nine. While students are sleeping in their rooms, these fine young men, President Eliot is taking a brisk spin through Cambridge on his wheel. Mrs. Eliot usually accompanies him, for, although only a few years younger than her husband, she is equally trim and healthy and fond of outdoor exercise. The couple, looking fresh and happy, can be seen almost any clear morning riding along at a smart pace through the streets of Cambridge.

President Eliot is one of the healthiest and heartiest looking men in Cambridge. He looks like a young man, with his head well up and his shoulders back, and goes through a daily routine of college worry which would break down many a younger man. He is, perhaps, the best example of the young man's physique, who is still keeping himself trim; for, although he no longer rows on Harvard's crew, he still takes to exercise, and pays fully as much attention to his physical as to his mental needs.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A HIGH-LEVEL RAILWAY.

The first trans-Atlantic railway in South America was authorized by the Chilian Congress at its last session. It is to connect Buenos Ayres with Santiago and Valparaiso, and will cut six or eight days from the present time schedule between Europe and Chile.

The famous Uspallata Pass is selected for the crossing. Each government will run a narrow gauge track up to the boundary line and there the construction will be made.

The Uspallata Pass is 13,000 feet above sea level. A tunnel will probably save the engines from climbing quite so

DE POYSTER TELLS HIS STORY.WHY HE IS INTERESTED IN THE MARRIAGE OF TORST, LATE OF LOS ANGELES.

A. C. De Poyster, towerman for the Southern Pacific at the corner of Seventh and Webster street, whose name was published in the Tribune yesterday in connection with the Torst-Alden marriage in San Rafael Tuesday last, called at the Tribune to-day to explain how he happened to be mentioned in connection with the young man who figured as groom in that case.

He stated that, as towerman, he had met Torst after the latter had come here from Los Angeles. Torst had secured a position on the telephone block system of the Southern Pacific Company, leading out of this city and had then retired from the place. De Poyster, at Torst's request, had given him $5 to help him because he said that he was in needy circumstances.

He stated that, as towerman, he had met Torst after the latter had come here from Los Angeles. Torst had secured a position on the telephone block system of the Southern Pacific Company, leading out of this city and had then retired from the place. De Poyster, at Torst's request, had given him $5 to help him because he said that he was in needy circumstances.

After leaving the position in the telephone block system Torst had gone to San Francisco and secured a place as bill clerk for the Southern Pacific, and after holding that place for a little while, again approached De Poyster and said that he had not eaten anything that day and that he felt like throwing up his job so that he might get some money for the purpose of getting something to eat. De Poyster advised him to hold on and gave him $5 more, making Torst's indebtedness amount to $10. Last Wednesday night De Poyster said that he met Torst on Seventh street and that Torst was accompanied by the young lady whose name has since appeared as that of his bride in the San Rafael marriage. Torst told De Poyster that he and the young woman had been married on the preceding day. Torst then turned aside to get a cigar and De Poyster asked the young woman if it were true that she and Torst were married. The young woman said that it was true and asked why De Poyster had made the query. De Poyster said that if she had not married Torst he might have something to say to her, but as long as she was Torst's wife he had nothing to say. De Poyster continued that on the last train from this city to San Francisco that same night he saw both Torst and the woman whom he claimed for his wife riding as passengers.

De Poyster said he was interested in the case to the extent that he wanted Torst to repay the money he had loaned the groom.

De Poyster says that Torst is a telephone operator and has now gone to some point on the Southern Pacific system in Utah with a pass for his wife to follow him when he shall settle in that place.

MADE KNIFE WITH 365 BLADES.

Burr Davis, senior member of Burr Davis & Sons, well-known liverymen and undertakers of Mount Vernon, died at his home, on Chester Hill, Mount Vernon, yesterday, from heart disease. He was seventy-five years old.

In early life he was a cutter, and made the pocket knife having 365 blades which was exhibited at the Crystal Palace in this city in 1866 by his employers, the Waterbury Manufacturing Company, of Waterbury, Conn.

In 1866 he opened an undertaking establishment in Mount Vernon. It is said that his firm has since then buried or interred five thousand persons.

He leaves a widow and four sons, Franklin T. Davis, Edward M. Davis, Dr. William Davis and Frederick L. Davis. About three years ago Mr. and Mrs. Davis celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, which was attended by nearly a hundred members of the family living in this State and Connecticut. Mr. Davis leaves a large estate. The funeral will be held on Wednesday in Trinity Episcopal Church.—New York Tribune.

ROUGH ON THE DIPLOMATS.

While many of the foreign ambassadors and ministers at Washington are exponents of the new diplomacy, there got more than they have ever earned in the world. The South's fair dedication, it was not only the Governors of States, and even the President of the United States, who went hungry on that memorable day. The diplomatic corps could not afford to eat in the Union's restaurant, and what was worse, the local papers next morning piled insult on injury by charging that the scantiness of the President's feed was due to the fact that a diplomatic had "raided" the tent at a previous hour.

Mr. Eliot was struck with appendicitis.

Mr. Harriman is suffering from appendicitis. His daughter's condition grew critical.

He invited the union men to come to Chicago with him on his special train.

George McKeon of Oakland, Cal., and H. J. McCracken of Sacramento, were appointed by the Southern Pacific boilermakers to accept the invitation. The two men started on their rush across the continent.

At Omaha President J. T. Kendy, Martin Douglas and Thomas McGovern of the Omaha boilermakers, joined the party.

The men had failed to call out the California men had voted to call out the Southern Pacific boilermakers in sympathy with those on the Union Pacific. National President McNeil of the boilermakers' Union was non-committal.

VARIED ATTRACTIONS AT THE LEADING THEATRES.

"Town Topics" Coming to Macdonough Monday—Strong Bill of Vaudeville Acts at Novelty Theatre—Other Shows.

On next Monday and Tuesday nights at the Macdonough Theater "Town Topics," old friend will make its appearance in a new and better dress than it has ever had before. The faint thread of plot still remains intact, for it would indeed be a foolhardy act to tamper with that which has pleased so many, time and again. But new faces and new songs and new specialties have made a new place out of the most favorite of all the farce comedies. The peculiar happenings to the lodgers at Mrs. Quirk's boarding house have been repeated before it is time, but they never fail to drive away the blues. For this tour the very best artists obtainable have been engaged, including some from the original New York Casino Theater cast. "World and Mack" are a team of comedians hard to beat. Mindell Kingdon is one of the leading soubrettes of the "Broadway" contingent today.

Seats are selling rapidly.

FLORENCE ROBERTS IS COMING HERE.

Florence Roberts, with her magnetic personality, her marvelous dramatic ability and her remarkable emotional temperament, presenting dramas calling forth the highest form of dramatic art, will appear at the Macdonough Theater for three nights beginning Friday evening, May 22, and again on Saturday and the most difficult roles known to the stage world. "Camille," "Zaza," and "Sapho." In the first role the distinguished actress has never been equalled, and probably remains one of the days of the favorite Clara Morris. Miss Roberts' personation of the David Belasco heroine, "Zaza," has met with widespread favor, and the character, which gained her a front rank among American actresses, "Sapho" has long been a triumph in the artistic hands of the clever star, and her successive delineations of the character, her magnificent gowns will be a feature of the presentations.

E. H. SOUTHERN WILL PLAY AT MACDONOUGH.

In "If I Were a King," which E. H. Southern is presenting in thirty different cities, to make his farewell appearance in the play, he is meeting with an enthusiasm that is even more marked than that of last year, when he was popular in the play at the New York during his second engagement this season. Southern presented "If I Were a King" six times longer than the length of the run he enjoyed in the play's previous production last year. In Boston, in this second engagement, his run of last year was doubled in length of time as well as receipts, and his farewell performances were much more successful than in the course of the play, but Southern, in accordance with his established custom, could not be prevailed upon to go to a spot where Southern's tour throughout the country, which is limited to only a few cities, fails to become the greatest dramatic sensation which country has known since the famous "Dinner at Eight" tour many seasons ago. In some places already arrangements are being made to auction off seats for his appearance, as the theater will be small to accommodate the demand for places that has already been manifested. He will soon be at the Macdonough.

GREAT BILL FOR NOVELTY THEATER NEXT WEEK.

At the Novelty Theater next week Manager Lubelski has provided a program which excels in interest any which he has thus far given at his popular place of amusement. All the stars of the present week who have had such great success, will be retained by popular request and to the list will be added a number who have never appeared here before, whose reputations have been achieved at the Orpheum and other standard places of amusement. The price of admission at the Novelty Theater is only 10 cents to 15 cents of the house. The theater is located on Broadway, near Eighth street.

FIDDLE DEE DEE STIL AT FISCHER'S.

At Fischer's Theater the original great success in the burlesque line of this theater, "Fiddle Dee Dee," will be continued next week. The review will be a piece of art, to be appreciated by the people that each performance is attended by a large audience of lovers of fun. Misses Kelli and Bill and Bernard, together with Maud Amber and another star, are rightly received with applause. "Twirl Whirl" will be the next attraction.

"ROMANY RYE" COMES TO CENTRAL THEATER.

At Central Theater next week "Romany Rye" will be the great attraction. This play is one of the finest melodramas which has ever been produced on the stage, and can be adequately produced in a theater only of the size of the Central.

WANG HAS A HOLD AT TIVOLI THEATER.

"Wang" has again caught on at the Tivoli, and big crowds throng the theatre nightly to laugh at the comicalities of the comedians, and enjoy a lot of catch-phrases. Edwin Stevens, as the regal Wang, is in the best of form, and injects the part with all its old-time charm. There is no doubt this actor's completeness of equipment for this line of parts, for it calls for more light and shade, and all-round cleverness than any other in the range of comic opera. Hartman is a hit as the keeper of the elephant, and Cunningham does himself credit as the Colonel. Carlo Roma is well placed as the widow, and Anne Myers looks cute and boyish as the prince. Bertha Davis is winsome as Marie, and the rest of the cast is highly satisfactory. "Wang" is no doubt good for a number of weeks. "El Capitan," the great Sousa opera will succeed.

WHITE WHITTLESEY AT ALCAZAR THEATER.

There is no American actor more splendidly endowed as a player of romantic parts than White Whittlesey, who begins a special engagement at the Alcazar, assisted by the stock company, next Monday night. "Heartsease" is the opening play. In manner, method, temperament and training, Whittlesey is suited to enact the sighing lovers, the dashing cavaliers, the fine-fibred heroes of romance. The pulse of his head, the flush of his eye, the melody of his voice appeal to womankind, whose ideals are poetic, and to whom the prosaic woof of real life is never wholly convincing. Whittlesey wears a sixteenth century sword and doublet and evening clothes of modest and doublet and evening clothes of modest and equal grace. His art is admirable. Since David Belasco first coached him for the Greek play at the New York Lyceum, he has always stood out boldly. His support of such artists as Southern, Margaret Mather, Julia Arthur, Ada Rehan and Maud Closson, and his versatile accomplishment in the productions of Froimann and Augustin Daly, have brought him honor and recognition. He places in the affectionate regard of San Francisco playgoers is well assured. "Heartsease" is a very popular play in San Francisco. It resounds with melody and thrills with poetry and passion. The Alcazar will be the first to offer it at popular prices, but the production will be equal to any ever attempted. The cast will be very complete, the staging artistic and the musical effects adequate. The sextet composed of Millie Flynn, Muriel Cooney, S. Homer Menley, Charles O. Henley and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Parent, sang the music in the Miller presentation. Thursday matinee will be resumed and Sunday matinee abandoned during the Whittlesey engagement. After "Heartsease" will come "The Tree of Knowledge," and "D'Arcy of the Guards." The Alcazar will have nearly exclusive possession of the dramatic field during the summer.

ON THE QUIET AT GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

The revival of "On the Quiet" by Walter E. Perkins at the Grand Opera House during the week commencing next Monday night, will be welcome news to theatre goers with whom Mr. Perkins holds high place as the popular favorite. The melody of his voice appeal to winter teams are practised in the gymnasium, it is when the weather grows warm and grass and trees begin to shoot forth their fresh tendrils that the game really reigns supreme. We are very proud of our teams here and the tournaments between the classes are as full of interest to the college girls as are any of the big football games to the enthusiastic bathers.

"Almost any girl can see the lively skirmishes in the field, but of course the most exciting time is when a tournament is being played, especially if it happens to be the final between the juniors and the class just going out. The teams are in charge of captains, and each 'man' has his own trainer, just as they do at men's colleges. The trainer sees that his charge keeps good hours, eats regularly, and only certain foods are permitted by his captain.

"Our personal supervision doesn't extend over these match games and their participants, though the practice each girl does counts toward the periods of physical culture requirements."

More stress is laid upon athletics and sports at some of the other colleges for water polo, such as basketball. Half an hour of this game equals twice as much time, or even more, given to walking or cycling. Bicycling is another recreation enjoyed by now, and a jolly spin over the country roads certainly doesn't seem like work, does it?"

"I admit that the delight of bicycling would certainly far outclass those of tossing clubs and dumbbells in a gymnasium, however well lit up this might be."

"Golf is still popular at the college," continued the instructor, "though we have no links here, and the enthusiasm for this game have to go some distance to one of the country clubs. If it were not for this advantage golf would be played much more than it is."

"Hockey, however, has apparently taken the place of golf. It is extremely well liked here, and almost every day you will find a number of the girls out on the campus with their hockey sticks, working overtime in their physical culture periods for interest. We thoroughly approve of this, however, and encourage the girls to play. For one thing, seven are required for each side in the game, and in this way the interest grows more general."

"In the autumn tennis becomes the popular game and we have many exciting tournaments soon after the college opens. Tennis is excellent exercise for girls; besides, it's pretty and promotes a friendly feeling among those just entering. When the nets, balls and racquets are brought out, the courts become a popular place for girls for classes, and sometimes friends from the city help to make the occasion a festive one."

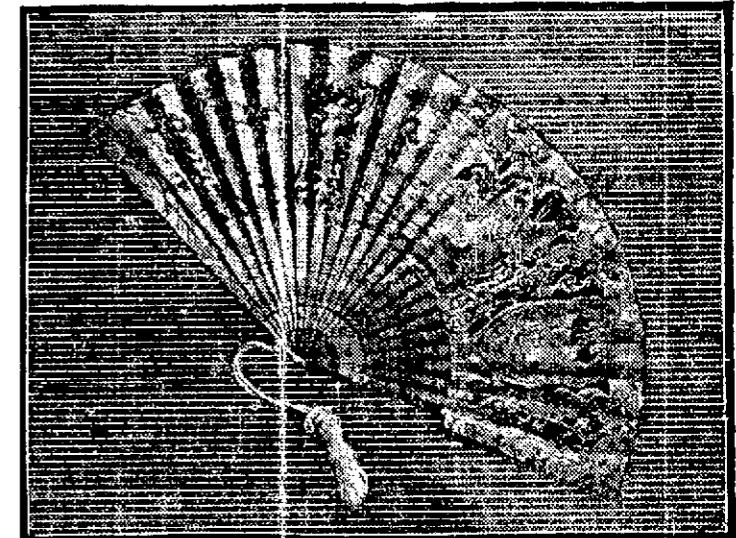

"In the spring basketball enthusiasm begins to display itself and though during the

THE TOOTHSOME EGG.

While the cooking manual of a well-known city chef contains five hundred recipes for the cooking of eggs, a smaller variety will suffice for the ordinary table, provided they are correctly prepared and daintily served. For reliable standbys the following recipe cannot be improved upon:

Omelette.

In making an omelette, cream, stock or water is better than milk, as the casein of the milk tends to toughen the albumen. The secret of a light omelette lies in the beating of the eggs and the folding of the whites and yolks together. Use one egg one tablespoonful of cream, a tiny speck of salt (too much salt toughens) and a dash of pepper. Add the salt to the whites of the eggs and beat stiff, but not so dry that it breaks. Put one teaspoonful of butter for each egg into the chafing dish, or a clean saucier, and while it is heating whip the yolks of the eggs until lemon-colored and stiff. Slip the beaten whites into the bowl with the yolks, pour in the liquid and just cut through, lifting up and folding over, but not stirring or beating, which would break the air cells. The "trick" is to keep the mixture spongy. Pour into the saucier, which should be hot enough to kiss as the egg runs over it. Spread the omelette evenly over the pan, using for this purpose a palette knife, or thin wooden spoon, that can be slipped under the omelette to pre-women than at Bryn Mawr. Field day is a great institution at Vassar and girls do remarkable stunts in running, jumping and other vigorous forms of exercise to the lounge. If you are using the chafing dish, slip the omelette over the hot water pan, remembering that the more slowly it is cooked the more delicate it will be. If cooking on the range, take from the top of the stove and put on the top grate of the oven to rise and dry. When the whole centre is done, run the knife around the edge, fold over to the right and slip off into a hot platter.

Varieties in the omelette may be afforded by adding cheese, ham, tomato, parsley, cheese, or any fruit pulp with the eggs. If mixed meats are used, allow one tablespoonful to an omelette made of two eggs; if parsley or mint, a half tablespoonful; if orange or fruit pulp, two tablespoonsful. Spread on top of the omelette after it is set.

LEMON PIE.

Three-quarters of a cup of sugar, one teaspoonful flour, yolks three eggs, white of one, half cup ice-water, juice and rind of one lemon. Meringues, whites two eggs, half powdered sugar.

French Omelette.

Beat four eggs slightly. Just enough so that you can lift up a spoonful. Add four tablespoonsful of cream, a tablespoonful of cold butter, a scant half tablespoonful of cold water, a little paprika, white pepper. Put a teaspoonful of butter in a hot omelette pan and stir in the mixture. Then with a fork lift up the cooked egg from the center, allowing the uncooked to run under. Continue this until the whole is a soft, creamy consistency. Place over a hot portion of the fire to set and brown, then fold and turn out on a hot platter.

Scrambled Eggs.

Scrambled eggs are cooked just the same as the French omelette, only they are taken up without browning or folding and are usually served on toast.

Scrambled Eggs With Green Peppers.

These make an excellent spring breakfast dish. Toast as many slices of bread as there are persons to be served, and lay a patte in the frying pan and while it is heating break as many eggs as are needed into a bowl. Add a little water to the same. Add a few green peppers, cut in a good number. Add a little water to each egg. As soon as the butter is melted and begins to bubble turn the eggs in and as the whites begin to set lift and stir with a silver fork. Have ready two finely chopped sweet green peppers from which the seeds have been removed and after the eggs are broken, add the mixture. Cook the peppers through the mixture. Cook a half hour. Turn the dish on to the hot toast, garnish with a little watercress or parsley and serve at once. If the toast is preferred soft, dip each slice for a moment in hot milk before covering with the eggs.

Fried Eggs.

The best medium for frying eggs is sweet olive oil. Put into a small frying pan over a medium fire two tablespoonsfuls of olive oil, or, if one prefers, the flavor of honey the same, or, if one prefers, the flavor of honey the same amount of clarified dripping. When smoking hot, break the egg and cook it a few seconds.

Turn while hot, folding the right side of the egg over the yolk, and cook a few seconds longer.

If one does not care to have the egg folded and turned, dip the hot fat with a spoon, pouring gently over the egg until the yolk is covered with a thin, thin film. Lift it out carefully, using a broad-bladed knife or pancake Turner, and serve with bacon or ham.

Canning Strawberries.

Wheaten Process.—For this two lots of berries are required—one of all large, sound, dead ripe berries and the other of perfectly sweet and fresh, but not necessarily large berries. In laying them over put aside the large ones, but do not hull until ready to use.

To every pound of the smaller berries allow a stone crock. Cover and allow them to stand for several hours or over night, until they form their own juice. Drain off the syrup and boil down to two-thirds of the original quantity. Have well sterilized cans with fresh rubbers to readiness; fill the cans with nice whole berries, which have been hullled and well on a picket. Put a cloth in a drooping bag at the neck of the range to keep the heat while being filled with the scalding syrup. Pour the syrup over them quickly and seal air-tight. The Geranium frequently use half honey in place of all sugars in this process. In this case cover the berries with the sugar, allowing only a half pound of sugar to each pound of fruit. After standing and draining add a quarter of a pound of honey for each pound of fruit and boil down to two-thirds of the original quantity.

In using honey the syrup must be carefully skimmed before filling the jars.

The Fit Of The French Collar.

Mrs. —'s trip to Europe has taught her how to make a collar! While in Paris she had a dress made, and at the second fitting asked the dressmaker to fit her collar. Madame's shoulders went up and her hands out. "Fit your neck! Ah, that is so American! Always, always can I tell an American dress. Charmant! But those fitted collars! Long neck, short neck, slim neck, fat neck, all with fitted collars. If one's neck is very, very long, then it is well some- to fit, but the ordinary neck, no, no!" And Madame proceeded to cut out the collar. The dress was next cut out very high in the neck, both back and front.

A piece of the goods was cut on the straight, fastened round the neck, then hol- lowed out under the chin, gradually sloping up to a point under the lobe of the ear, and from there a slight downward slope to the middle of the back, resulting in an absolutely comfortable, easy and graceful collar, making the neck look smaller and adding apparent length to the waist. The changes in the trimmings of the fitted collar proper, to the simple collar of the French is a pic- turing one. Mrs. — is a stout woman, and now presents a delightful appearance of comfort and style. Dressmakers are gradually adopting the French method.

Sew a very thin piece of whalebone from the point to the lower edge and one piece on the underside of the back. They will launder well with the whalebone.

The possibility of ornamentation lies entirely with the taste of the wearer, the foundation below always the same—a straight edge for the bottom of the collar. The sweet pea made of pink chiffon make a pretty decoration for a lace collar. Cut a piece of chiffon, doubled, about one and a half inches deep and four inches in length. Garber it around the cut edges, keeping it double; put a cord in the middle, then gather the thread tightly round the cord; turn one side to the right, the other to the left, and fasten securely.

Cut the cord in lengths and put a sweet pea on each end. Then tie them together unevenly. Tie the cord in a small loop so that it will hide the stitching. Instead of a cord, a narrow baby ribbon—of gauze, the same color as the flowers, gives a pretty effect to the bunch of sweet peas.

His Philosophy.

I love you, I love you, to the maiden said

the man.

I will love you forever if I can.

I can't foretell the future,

I can't reveal the past,

But though I doubt, I'll do my best.

I love you, to the last.

I love you, I love you, said the maiden to the man.

I will love you forever if I can.

He cried. "You doubt? Oh, no, ob, ob;

It is not maladroit," said he;

Said he. "It is not maidenly."

WASHINGTON'S FACE IN THE ROCK.

Many amateur photographers are visiting Manaroneck, N. Y., to obtain snapshots of a remarkable likeness of stone of the face of George Washington, recently revealed by the old log house, which is known as Oriental Point. Here Washington had his headquarters in the Revolution, and the place figures in Cooper's novel "The Spy" as the home of Harvey Birch.

The likeness was produced accidentally by some workmen who blasted out rock in order to widen the road. The property is situated on the Boston Post road, at the entrance to the manor house of the late Mrs. Follen, and is now owned by the Parrish estate. The likeness is like a newspaper puzzle. It can be seen only at certain angles. It is almost impossible to notice it while standing directly in front of the rocks.

At the proper angle it is strikingly visible.

One hundred and seven thousand tons of peanuts were bought at Marseilles in 1902 for use in making olive-oil soap.

REMARKABLE PHOTOS OF BIRD FLIGHT.

When an eagle is actually soaring in the air its appearance is far different from the pictures which the artist usually makes of him. When he first takes flight and starts upward he spreads his wings as the painter generally depicts him when high in the air, but after he has reached a sufficient elevation and wishes to travel in a horizontal direction he takes the position which is shown in the accompanying photograph, apparently forming himself into a manta.

This picture was taken from the top of a high, wide, granite, which operates in a thousandth part of a second. The shutter was snapped just as the bird was passing the photographer. As will be noted, its shape causes it to really resemble two birds, but this appearance is produced by the position of the left wing. The other photograph was taken of a bird just as it left the post on which it had been perched, the camera catching it at a height of about 10 feet in the air.

And The Cock Crew.

A farmer recently entered a small hotel in Maine with a handsome rooster under his arm, and in a few minutes a man approached and offered to buy it. They argued a good while about the price, and finally the men agreed to pay according to the number of times the cock crew, the amount of each crow being fixed at 50 cents. Thereupon the farmer initiated a clucking hen, and straightway the cock gave his crew, at times in succession. The purchaser at first refused to pay on the ground that he had been tricked, but the spectators ridiculed him so unmercifully that he finally handed over the $2.50.

ODD BOTTLE CAST UP BY THE SEA

Capt. John Ketcham, of Amityville, N. Y., while fishing off the beach at Long Island saw floating recently on the water a square whisky bottle. He caught it and brought it ashore, and on closer inspection found a surprise inside the bottle—a complete picture of a beach scene. It was a masterpiece piece of workmanship. Evidently the maker during some period of his life had learned the art of glassblowing.

According to the design it is summertime, for the doors of the tiny cottages are open and the curtains are flying to the breeze. The tall lighthouse looms up in the foreground, the lighthouse is manned, ready for action. A small boat with a sailboat is beached from over the sunlit waves. A flag is set in the neck of the bottle, and from the pole the Stars and Stripes, while underneath the flag is a set of code signals. Potholes and shells are strewn about the beach.

The cottages, boats, lighthouses, etc., are fastened to a groundwork of plaster of Paris, and every object used in the scene had first to be passed through the narrow neck of the bottle, which at its widest part measures but an inch in diameter. This fact alone shows what patience and skill were necessary in order to place the scene complete as it is in each part inside the bottle, and what a long time it would take to complete such a work of art. ## EIGHT BROTHERS IN THE ARMY.

Here are eight German brothers named Henning, all of whom have served their time in the German Army. Clapping to be assembled together not long ago, they put on their uniforms and had their photographs taken.

A copy was sent to the Kaiser, who, in return, sent the widowed mother of the eight defenders of the Fatherland a gift of 300 marks.

There is now a settlement containing 600 persons on the top of the Mount of Olives.

Fetish Doll.

Upon a certain day of the year the bonds of households in South Africa who wish to keep a fetish doll, which is a small image of straw vaguely resembling a doll and throw it into the street. Within the body of the image a small coin is placed. The person who takes possession of this coin receives all the ill-luck of the household. The image is supposed to have the power of transferring it. The average small boy, however, is not troubled with superstitious fears and considers the finding of such coins a clear profit and extreme good luck.

The flap is imbued with some chemical composition which, when dry, is upon by a dissolving process or any other means of penetrating the envelope, records the transaction by causing the words "Attempt to open" to appear. ## Two Strange Oaths.

A Chinaman was recently summoned as a witness to a court in London, and instead of being sworn in the usual manner a lighted candle was given to him, which he held in his hand and said solemnly: "If I do not tell the whole truth in this case, may I be extinguished as this candle." He just then extinguished it. As there was no perceptible change in him after performing this ceremony it is reasonable to suppose that he did tell the truth.

A native of India, being recently summoned as a witness in an Australian court, informed the magistrate that he did not believe in the usual oath and that his testimony would be useless unless he could swear by the waters of the Ganges. The magistrate was nonplussed, but the interpreter, with a smile, left the court and returned in a few minutes with a glass full of water.

"Is that water from the Ganges?" asked the astonished judge.

"No," replied the interpreter, "but I'll tell him that it is, and he'll certainly believe me."

He was right. The Indian swore by the holy water, never dreaming that it had been obtained from a nearby pump.

A Difficult Problem.

These long-suffering individuals who stand at the borders of Uncle Sam's dominions and look after the collecting of customs and duties between here and Mexico are "up against it," in schoolboy language, in order to find out the exact amount payable in Mexican money, according to the latest dictum of the Finance Minister, they must multiply one-half of the duty computed at the prevailing rate by 247%, the rate of exchange for gold, and divide the product by 10.

This reduction of United States currency to Mexican money by so long and so toilsome a route relieves one of childhood days of wrestling with "reduction to lowest terms" and all the wrinkles that grew in one's tired brain during that agitating, aggravating period of the school curriculum.

England spends five and a half millions yearly in foreign eggs.

Candle Crowned.

In Sweden, on St. Lucia's Day, December 13, young ladies dressed in white and crowned with chaplets of lighted candles visit the houses of the poor, bringing food in wooden bowls.

This pretty and practical custom is of great antiquity, and, like other old customs, appears to be of mixed Christian and pagan origin. The name Lucia means luminous.

St. Lucia was a Christian martyr, to whose head a Roman prefect ordered lighted candles to be fastened, but she was not injured by the flames, and so was put to the sword.

On the other hand, Lucia may be considered as a translation of Berchta, "the shining one," of old German mythology. She is also called Holda, and is an incarnation of Freya, the sun goddess, the consort of Wotan.

"Cuban" Newsboy.

Here is the newsboy of Havana. He is not very young nor very active. In fact, our newsboys will sell more in a day than he will in a month.

But why hurry to make money? A climate such as Havana has all the year round requires but little clothing, and a few pennies will keep body and soul together. Why ask for money in life is the maxim in Spanish lands.

A French scientist has cheapened the production of liquid air by half, so that its use in the arts may now be profitable.

HONEY BEE'S WEAPON.

No one looking at a honey bee as it wings its way from flower to flower would imagine that it is equipped with such a powerful weapon as is portrayed in the accompanying picture, and yet the microscope shows that it is.

Thanks to the microscope, moreover, we now know clearly why the bee, as a rule, uses its sting whenever it insects it into an object. Naturalists have explained that the reason why the sting generally is broken off and remains in the wound is because it is furnished with a barb, which prevents it from being drawn back to its original position. The exact location and strength of this barb, however, were not clearly known until the microscope revealed them.

From the picture we see that the sting bears a close resemblance to a large and strong saw, and is furnished not with one, but with several barbs, which effectively serve to retain it in any object into which it is driven.

OLD MEXICAN VASE.

Among the strange and valuable objects which have been recently installed in the Mexican Hall of the American Museum of Natural History, of which Mr. Marshall H. Saville is curator, is a wonderful terra cotta jar, designed and decorated in imitation of a turkey. This is considered the most magnificent specimen of ancient American ceramics so far discovered.

Besides the striking and artistic turkey head handle, the most extraordinary feature of the jar is its ornamentation of solid gold leaf, with which it was profusely decorated in former times, many layers of which still remain on the jar. It is considered to be a priceless example, illustrating the culture and workmanship of that mysterious civil-

A DUTY WOMEN OWE TO THEMSELVES.

"Good actions speak louder than words," so too, does the testimony of many thousands of women during a third of a century speak louder than mere claims not backed by a guarantee of some kind. That is the reason why the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription are willing to offer $500 reward for women who cannot be cured. Such a remarkable offer is founded on the long record of cures of the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women. No other medicine for woman's ills is possessed of the unparalleled curative properties that would warrant its makers in making such an offer.

Monthly Misery.

"For seven years I suffered such pains as only fall to the lot of women," writes Miss Emily Endrell (President of Women's Sewing Circle), of 605 N. 18th Street, Omaha, Nebr. "Every month I had to go to bed for a day or two, and the pain and misery I endured made me wish to die. Profuse periods simply made life a burden. In this misery I read one of your little booklets which a friend brought me, and I considered it a good omen and began to take your 'Favorite Prescription.' Next month the pains were much less, and kept gradually decreasing until the fifth month when I passed the period without a particle of pain. I thank you a thousand times for what your medicine has done for me."

"Really Wonderful."

"I am very pleased and happy with the results obtained from the use of your 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Miss Edyth A. Welsh (Instructor of Elocution), of 1404 Forbes Avenue, St. Joseph, Mich. "I took it a few months for female trouble, from which I had suffered ever since fifteen years of age. Many prescriptions had been tried for my case, but all of no avail. Finally, as a last resort, I tried your medicine, and it was really wonderful how soon it helped me and relieved me of much suffering. I am now well and strong and in perfect health, and shall always speak a good word for your remedy."

Used After Confinement.

"Mothers who dread the coming would take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they would find it a great help and benefit," writes Mrs. L. E. Henderson (President Milwaukee Woman's Literary Club), of 123 Grand Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis. "After the birth of my first child I did not seem to regain my health, so began to take your medicine and in two weeks I felt stronger and able to be about, so kept taking it for two months and found at the end of that time I had completely regained my usual health. I also found that it was of benefit to take a few months prior to baby's advent; in fact, it is of great benefit in all forms of female weakness."

"Time Will Tell."

"Time will always tell whether a medicine is right or not," writes Mrs. Mary King, of 412 River Street, Troy, N. Y., "and, after using several kinds of medicine for profuse periods I found that nothing was of any benefit to me until I used your 'Favorite Prescription.' It is a very remarkable preparation. Within a few weeks after I commenced taking it I felt better, my general health had greatly improved. I had but little pain and in a few months your medicine restored me to perfect health and made me regular. This was almost a year ago and I am now in fine health and have been ever since, thanks to Dr. Pierce's medicine."

"I am therefore very pleased to recommend your 'Favorite Prescription' as I have found by personal experience that it is a woman's friend."

DR. PIERCE OFFERS $500 REWARD FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED OF FEMALE WEAKNESS.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Soothes the Nerves.

"I have found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription of inestimable value," writes Miss Ellen A. Bryan (Treasurer Memphis Century Club), of 193 Vance Street, Memphis, Tenn. "As a tonic for over-wrought nerves, or when one is troubled with general lassitude and an irritable condition, hardly knowing what the trouble is, I was advised to use it by a member of our Club, and the effect on me was truly wonderful. Within two weeks I was like a new woman. I could eat and sleep as I had not been able to for months, my nerves became strong and the mental equilibrium was restored as well as the physical. Your medicine has my highest endorsement."

If you want to know what ails you the United States mail will bring you the best medical advice for only the cost of writing materials and stamps.

Many people owe their present good health to the fact that they consulted Dr. Pierce by letter, giving him all possible information about their condition, symptoms, etc., and received in return good medical advice WHICH COST THEM NOTHING. This is why we advise you to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, the founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y.

Do not take a cocktail, or a tonic which contains alcohol, for it will surely shrivel up the little blood corpuscles and eventually produce indigestion and mal-nutrition. No matter how powerful the intellect or the resources of intellectual power, it must be backed up by physical force and womanly strength, which can be gained by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

MISS ELLEN A. BRYAN

Promptly Relieved.

Miss Elizabeth Grosh, residing at 421 Massachusetts Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C., writes: "Your 'Favorite Prescription' has proved a blessing to me, and after years of bad health and pain, has made almost a new woman of me. When about fifteen years of age my troubles began in the way of pains, head aches, and dizziness. After being sick this way for nearly three years your 'Favorite Prescription' was recommended to me, and I am certainly glad that I took it. The first bottle built me up wonderfully and I took up the treatment for three months, the result being that it has restored me to perfect health. I have a reason to be and certainly am grateful to you."

MISS EDYTH A. WELSH

Monthly Occurrence.

"I can testify to the wonderful good Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did for me and am pleased to do so," writes Mrs. Lida E. Smith (Proprietress, White Pawn Council, No. 9—Degrees of Pocahontas), of 608 North 17th Street, Omaha, Nebr. "For some years my health had been poor, was troubled with weakness, pains in the back and groins, and dull, sick headaches. These symptoms were of monthly occurrence and I really never expected to be well again. A friend, who was very enthusiastic about your 'Favorite Prescription,' induced me to try it. I bought a bottle, began taking it and was surprised to find that I was not nearly as sick as usual, and a few months' continued use of the medicine restored me to perfect health. I really feel ten years younger."

MRS. NELLIE JOHNSON

"I had been a sufferer for over five years, growing worse as time went on, and could not seem to derive any benefit from the many remedies prescribed," writes Mrs. Nellie Johnson, of 636 2d Street, N. E., Washington, D. C. "A number of my friends desired that I should try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and I finally did so with reluctance, but am glad to say that the results were all that could be desired. Two bottles lessened pains and depression to which I had become so accustomed that I thought no relief was possible, and after using the 'Favorite Prescription' for several months all pains disappeared and I felt like a slave freed from bondage. I became strong, lost that lassitude which had been ever with me, and in fact became truly 'new' woman. I consider the 'Favorite Prescription' a fine medicine for women and often take a dose or two now when I have been over-worked, and results are always satisfactory. Have great faith in this medicine and gladly recommend it to all suffering women."

THE SCOPE AND AIMS OF UNIVERSITY EXTENSION.

Prof. Henry Morse Stephens Writes of This Important Branch of Education.

BERKELEY. May 16.—Professor Henry Morse Stephens, to whom the University of California has intrusted her important work of University extension, has just written an article in which he tells what the real scope and object of this extension is. It is conceded that no department of the University's work is productive of wider benefits and influences than that of the extension courses and lectures. Since coming to California, Professor Stephens has done a vast amount of work in this branch of the University's work his wide experience with people and with books making him eminently fitted for the responsibilities of the position.

A portion of his article reads as follows: "There are two distinct aims to be followed in a system of modern university extension, conditioned on the needs of different individuals. For a long time these aims were not distinguished, and the popular lecture, containing information and stimulation, was all that was given to the student. Equally dangerous has been the tendency under some university extension schemes to devote the main energies of the lecturer to the smaller and more ambitious element of his audience, and to neglect the larger class that attends the university extension lecture without the desire for study. It has been found by experience that the differentiation of these two aims can be secured by doubling the lectures with a series of classes, and the university extension, as it is now understood, aims at interesting, stimulating and informing large audiences, and to follow with a small class exercise for those who wish to study as well as to listen."

Certain principles, practiced in England, the United States, have been employed to establish the system on this coast upon a substantial basis. The first principle is continuity of subject. University extension stands for continuous as opposed to spasmodic work. It is a cardinal feature of the value of the University extension courses that they deal continuously with the same topic. The old system adoption of the recognized principles in their entirety. The flourishing university extension societies and clubs in different parts of the State evince an interest for this form of higher education; the many organizations for literary studies prove a longing to hold up a high standard of mental cultivation; the efforts of professors from both Berkeley and Stanford to carry on courses of lectures in local communities have been useful object lessons; and the State which sends to the universities within its borders the largest proportion of its University students to university extension the fittest field that has yet been entered. There seems every probability of abounding success for the scheme laid out by the University of California, and the one thing needed is the hearty co-operation of representative persons in intelligent local communities toward the formation of university extension centers in all sections and cities of the State."

REPORTS ON CAMPAIGN AGAINST CODLING MOTH

BERKELEY. May 16.—Warren T. Clarke, entomologist at the University of California, who is conducting the campaign against the codling moth that has proved so destructive to the apples of Monterey and Santa Cruz counties, has just made a report of the progress of the work to the Supervisors. After giving an account of his expenses, he writes as follows:

"We have endeavored to cover in this investigation the apple growing sections of the county, and now have special experiments under way in the Carmel valley, in Salinas region, at Prunedale, Dumbarton, Aromas, near Castroville, and in the Santa Cruz valley. The sylabus is an indispensable basis for the lectures. Of course, the sylabus is the fixed principle established that all university extension lectures should be based upon a printed syllabus. In university work where classes can be frequently met the usefulness of a syllabus is recognized, but in university extension work where classes are only met at fortnightly intervals, the syllabus is an indispensable basis for the lectures. Of purely local concern is the fixing of days and hours for extension lectures. In some communities the afternoon and in others the evening is the fittest time, and the appropriate days of the week are different in every community. With regard to payment, a fixed fee to cover all the expenses of the lecturer with his syllabus has been charged by the central organization, and this fee is calculated on the scale of the ideal lecture course of twelve lectures. In California, after mature consideration, the fee has been fixed for such a course at $300, and to this must be added the necessary local expenses. In hiring a lecture hall, which is necessary, advertising, etc. One item of expense for the entertainment of the traveling lecturers, is best met by quartering him at the homes of different members of the extension committee and persons interested in extension work. By this means not only is a source of expense avoided, but a personal contact between the lecturer and the leading members of the audience and class can be established.

"Time alone can show whether the situation in California is ripe for the

TEMPERANCE PLEDGE BY 1500.

Fifteen hundred persons, men, women and children, were today pledged to the cause of temperance at Holy Savior church, this city, by the Rev. J. J. Curran, rector of the congregation. The ceremony was extremely impressive.

This, it is said, is the only place in the State where the entire congregation of a church is publicly pledged to the cold water cause each year. Last year but twelve hundred took the pledge, showing a clear gain of three hundred for the year.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

CLAYS WILL BE SMASHED.

COLLEGE CITY GUNNERS TO HOLD REGULAR SHOOT TOMORROW.

BERKELEY. May 16.—Now that the race for the Putzker cup is over and Juster has carried off that trophy, the interest of the members of the College City Gun Club is centered upon the shoots for the gold medal and for the gold watch. The club will hold its regular semi-annual meet tomorrow morning at the grounds on the county road north of town, at which time the race for the medal will be continued. So far Juster leads with $6, Reed follows with $4 and close behind is Leavall with $3. The race seems to lie with these three cracks, with the chances about even.

The event is limited to the members of the club. It is for twenty-five rods. All contestants will be handicapped by the percentage system into classes. The highest gun in each class to win. No more than two back scores to be made up during the season, which is now about half over. Second place men receive prizes in this event.

The other event to be shot tomorrow morning is the re-entry race for which two prizes are offered. All contestants will start from the 16-yard mark and be handicapped two yards for every five consecutive breaks until twenty yards is reached. The contestant then shoots until he misses.

WILL BID FAREWELL TO MRS. ENSIGN SAWYER

BERKELEY. May 16.—The local Salvation Army will give an ice cream social at their headquarters on Shattuck avenue this evening at 8 o'clock. Although in the form of a social, the affair is really a farewell reception to Mrs. E. S. Sawyer, who, after a most successful sojourn here, has been called to other fields.

Mrs. S. C. Bourne of Cleveland will be the guest of honor. On Sunday evening the army will tender its farewell to Mrs. Sawyer at the regular evening services.

WILLIAM H. GIRVIN BECOMES A BENEFICENT

BERKELEY. May 16.—On the night of his graduation, William H. Girvin was married to Miss Marjorie L. Egerton, the wedding being solemnized at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. May Egerton of Vine street. The father of the groom tied the nuptial knot. Percy Girvin, brother of the groom, acted as best man, while Miss Ruby Egerton was maid of honor. The parlor in which the ceremony was performed was tastefully decorated in green and white, and the dining-room in pink. After a wedding trip of two weeks in the southern part of the State, the happy young couple will reside at the home that Mr. Girvin has had built on Henry street.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

BERKELEY. May 16.—Rev. Charles M. Sheldon of Topeka, Kansas, will speak in the First Presbyterian Church next Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. Mr. Sheldon, who is the author of "In His Steps," is well known as an orator and writer.

Henry W. Preston of this city is registered at the Hotel Rafact.

A. C. Brundaff of 225 Chapel street leaves in a few days for Los Angeles, where he will probably locate.

Carl Irving, who has been attending the University of California, is home for the summer vacation.—San Bernardino Sun.

Mrs. Earle Payne left yesterday for the East to take her mother home.

Her father, Mr. L. Earle, is seriously ill and it was deemed best to hasten to his side.

Chester Awtar, who attends the University of California at Berkeley, is home spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Awtar.—Santa Cruz Surf.

Dr. Blake, who is a popular young physician recently graduated from the University of California, leaves shortly for Santa Barbara, where he intends making his home.

Mrs. R. A. Morse, accompanied by Miss Morse and Miss Ruby Morse, will spend the coming year in the East. They will live at New Haven, where the husband of Mrs. D. Winter (nee Nellie Morse), is an instructor in English at Yale.

DR. WILLITS TO TALK.

Next Sunday afternoon at 2:15, Dr. A. A. Willits, the celebrated platform lecturer from New Jersey will give a lecture in Association Hall on "Serving Our Generation."

Dr. Willits is a successful lecturer of two generations. When Beecher, Phillips, and Gough were on the platform, the name of Dr. Willits was common in the same connection. Dr. Willits has been a lecturer for nearly forty years, yet he is still in full strength.

He is as young in spirit and as vigorous in thought and action as he ever was. He travels extensively, lectures nearly every night and frequently preaches on Sunday. He has never missed a date from physical weakness.

The lecture Sunday afternoon will be free to men and their lady friends. A silver collection will be taken.

POPE WILL NOT RECEIVE LOUBET. President Loubet of France, will visit Rome shortly after the visit of the Czar.

The Pope, after consulting his Cardinals, has decided not to receive the French President, and this decision will be officially communicated to France. In that case, the Pope will not ask an interview with his holiness. It is feared, however, he will ask one in order to court the refusal, which is certain, if Prime Minister Combes is still in office when Loubet arrives in Rome. The Pope's refusal will lead to a diplomatic rupture between the Vatican and the French Government and the abolition of the concordat.—Chicago Tribune.

ALL HAVE A TIRED FEELING IN THE SPRING.

Our Grand Mothers Used to Cure it
With Sulphur and Molasses,
But Its Microbes Now.

BY BETTY MARTIN.

Scientists have been investigating that old drive away the "tired feeling," which takes hold of the world every spring and have brought forward an elaborate theory regarding its whys and wherefores.

Some of them lay the blame at the door of a newly discovered microbe with an unpronounceable name.

The strenuousness of modern life, the surpassing achievements, the bustle, noise, competition and worry, too, are mentioned as among known causes.

The learned savants constituting this investigating committee have gone so far as to declare that the whole world is tired this year to an extent unknown of before. Just how they were able to reach such a conclusion the scientists haven't taken the pains to state, nor have they given the remotest suggestion of a remedy.

If these same scientists had taken the trouble to investigate a few old time family receipt books, they might have reached a somewhat different conclusion regarding the number, at least, of people who feel worn out on the arrival of spring.

Whatever the cause, that "tired feeling" has been universally felt in the spring of each year, so far back as record goes. Big, little, young, old, rich and poor have alike experienced it.

The cure used to be given over to housewives, and every old cook-book in the land has its pet remedy therefore.

Old-fashioned folk, who did not know of the existence of microbes, used to declare that the "blood was thick, and needed thinning." To that end they administered herb-teas, and all sorts of simple remedies—among them creams of tartar, and sulphur and molasses.

The latter always held the palm for nauseating doses and effectiveness. Our grandmothers held to one unvarying course regarding both time to be taken by three of dosing. In this wise did they

Frock & Coat for Early Summer

Coats and wraps to match gowns are as fashionable as ever this season, and before this year was it necessary to have so many wraps and coats that in themselves are separate garments and can be worn with any gown. Made of different material, often of an entirely opposite color, and in themselves complete, they yet seem as if they were a part of whatever gown they are worn with. This fashion, once, one bound attained a surprising popularity. Apparently shaped as all the wraps and coats of the moment, with the exception of the various tailor-made variety that goes with the short skirt, they are in reality most carefully fitted and shaped, and, in spite of apparently blinding every line and disguising the figure, they really bring out every good point. If a woman be tall and have broad shoulders, her height and breadth are accentuated—that is, the greater breadth. If she be short and stout, the sloping shoulders and the trimmings will be arranged to make her slender in spite of her bulk. Most cleverly will the extra fullness in the front of the cloak which is worn by the tall, slender woman be done away with, while the same effect of being loose and not fitting at all is still carried out. The eye is caught by the long lines of trimming, which give the much-to-be-desired slender appearance.

All light colors are tremendously popular, as popular, in fact, as reds that in themselves at least dark colors will be again. But for the moment light tans, ivory white, champagne color, gray, pale blue, pale green, pale red and even a light shade of pink, are in favor, and in these same shades are made up smart and attractive coats and cloaks. Cords and tassels of passementerie, dyed to match the material exactly, are the latest trimming, and in themselves are heavy embroideries or are deepened sufficient as trimming, with the addition of a narrow velvet collar and revers, velvet with a polka dot of white being preferred and a plain color, or with faddings of a plain colored flossard, with polka dot of white. Last year's fashion of pounces or India silk in pale green, blue or red, embroidered with navy blue, yellow or orange, in the form of grape and leaves, still fashionable, is now or smart as some of the other embroideries. The newest are made of the basket weave of Madras linens—white, blue, pink or yellow—heavily braided with a fine white soutache braid. In themselves the materials for this embroidery are inexpensive, but the work to meet the stamp of approval, must be done by hand, and, consequently, this is never an inexpensive trimming, although perfectly possible for even an amateur to turn out.

The length of the coats varies considerably. The so-called three-quarter length—so long that it reaches almost to the hem of the skirt—and the length that comes only to a little below the waist are both considered smart. But the long three-quarter is considered the smartest of all and is more becoming, for when a coat or wrap of this description is too short it makes too much fulness, without the lines being long enough to modify that fulness. The according plaited cloth and chiffon wraps are fashionable as they were when first seen in Paris. The summer wraps are made without any trimming, but are not so good for carriage wear as are those of plain cloth, trimmed with either the cord and tassels, passementerie ornaments or the hands of heavy lace insertion. In white these coats are especially smart and becoming, and they are very useful also as ponchos for driving and for dust cloaks. A costume of pale gray, with a long white wrap, is immensely smart, and the gray wrap can do duty as well for a white or a black gown, but, of course, is not so smart as the white with everything else. The one tone of color carried out by having the gown, the coat and the hat all in the same is not so well done, however, and when it is not just another touch of some other color added is all sufficient to make it distinct, lively and original. At the present moment silk gowns in changeable taffeta, with a wrap of the same color—not necessarily of silk, but of cloth—are quite the newest, and such are very charming.

It would seem as though velvet were never to go out of fashion. But the velvet sold by the yard, for gowns and coats and trimmings, and the velvet ribbons used also for trimmings, velvet rosettes, stiff velvet bows and the narrow velvet ribbon run through headings, have come into great favor the latest. In many instances, the touch of contrast gives beauty. The black velvet is very smart and almost always becoming. The gowns cut low in the neck, we have been threatened with these for the last two or three, even four years, in fact, are now worn with a broad band of black velvet around the throat. This is a fashion that, strangely enough, is always pronounced becoming, but it has an unhappy faculty of adding many years to the apparent age of the wearer, as any woman who has passed the first freshness of youth or has a tendency to a double chin has found out to her sorrow. But black velvet is fashionable, and as such is used when run through headings, in rosettes or bows or in the new collars, for the black velvet ribbon is made up into collars as well as worn tied with a bow at the back of the neck.

Where And How To Grow The Edible Mushroom.

Although heat and humidity influence all kinds of vegetation, yet heat is not the chief factor in mushroom cultivation. The chief influence is, however, in greater influence on mushrooms than on other plants. For this reason it is in spring and autumn that the fleshly mushroom flourishes most vigorously in the United States, which is frequently given the cellar walls. Such conditions of temperature and humidity are found to some people, but when slightly handled and thoroughly prepared before being started in the house they emit no odor. No person can grow mushrooms more successfully than the farmer's wife, yet, strange is nothing arduous about it: the spawn, or bricks, can be obtained from a specialist, and every year or two a small patch of land affords the conditions necessary to the cultivation of the common varieties. The market, too, is increasing and there is every indication that as it becomes better known the cultivation of this succulent delicacy will become an important industry. Space that would otherwise be unavailable can be utilized and a little knowledge of the market demands will enable one to know what kinds to cultivate and where to sell them. The mushroom clubs are advocating the industry for women, and they collect every specimen available, so that it may be catalogued and tested and the edible species become commonly known.

Florists have planted thousands of square yards under their greenhouse benches and in this way first utilized the loam needed in their greenhouse work. Chicken raisers are also becoming more and more interested, seeing in the cultivation of this fungus a good winter business. Near San Francisco is a canning factory which is used to put up mushrooms, grown in sheds filled with long and narrow beds. All the work is done by machinery, and railroad cars are used to haul the earth. Around Buffalo, N. Y., tunnels have been utilized, and St. Paul has in caves on the river bank beds of mushrooms which are noted all over the West. The beds in Buffalo and St. Paul, like the famous mushroom caves of Paris, which are yearly inspected by the government, are at such an even temperature that whole acres of mushrooms can be gathered.

It is believed that the cultivation of this fungus will eventually have an important bearing on the world's food supply. It more to say, she has paid little attention to this branch of home gardening, which is indeed labor is necessary, and after planting all the care consists in maintaining an even temperature and in gathering the crops. Many women in search of employment can find no pleasanter work than mushroom growing, and which will supply enough for domestic use. Spring and autumn are the best seasons, and the mushrooms are usually full bearing at the end of four weeks. Some women use the cellars of their houses for mushroom beds, and in the use of those who wish to grow a few, a part of the room can be partitioned off alongside the wall to protect it from cold draughts. Shelves can be placed above the bed at any other height, and the soil is covered with straw, and after planting all the care consists in maintaining an even temperature and in gathering the crops. Many women in search of employment can find no pleasanter work than mushroom growing, and which will supply enough for domestic use.

All edible fungi should be collected in their prime and prepared and served as speedily as possible, as decomposition sets in. An insect, however, is to control, especially the mushroom for the minute grub which sometimes infests the entire surface. A vertical cut through the stem and cap will settle this question.

The Social Obligations Of The Working Woman

In the good old days when the working woman was a being set apart from society, she was given a green jacket, her continental sister she enjoyed certain distinct advantages as well as certain very apparent disadvantages. The discussion of her duty to society usually resolved itself into a discussion as to what she should wear during business hours and as to how far she might compromise with her "womanliness" by failing to observe elevated mascotine fads and coattail masculine arms in an office.

But nowadays the problem is more complicated. She is invited to dinners and dances as a matter of course, provided that she knows dinner and dance giving people. Her acquaintances no longer say: "It would be so pleasant to have Elaine down for the club on Saturday afternoon, only, of course, she doesn't care for that sort of thing." She pants, you know, a week-end parties are no longer withheld from her on the ground that law and a fondness for rural rehaztions are antagonistic tastes. It is not supposed that she scores golf tournaments because she teaches Greek in a woman's college, or that a yachting trip is out of the question for her because she is a real estate broker.

Of course all this is pleasant, but he who imagines that it is unalloyed joy to the working woman is rock-rolling—as she cannot without the dressmaker, the tailor, the seamstress, the servant, the maid, the expensive adjuncts of a social career. For accepted as a fact, the professional woman is no longer allowed for as a mild aristocracy. She may no more make her appearance at a formal dinner clad in a shirt waist and cloth skirt, on the ground that she is a physician, than her brother can make his in knickerbockers and a Norfolk jacket and expect excuses for his offhand behavior.

Take the case of Hester, for example. Hester teaches literature in a small private school. That in itself implies expenditures.

One may not train the youthful mind there, to appreciate the beauties of Shelley or the thunderings of Carlyle unless one is properly attired.

The scions of the aristocracy may not bear that George Eliot did not fail to write novels early in life from a woman whose tie is badly chosen and badly tied.

The students, however, are not so bad.

The working woman is often an unattached woman, living alone, and may walk to or from any social engagement and no one will regard her as unusual. Imagine a woman in pale pink or violet crepe, with a Spanish lace scarf over her head and a white lined cloak over her shoulders, walking out to dinner!
